MR. AND MRS. J. C. BIRELY CELEBRATE JOYOUS OCCASION

In the presence of the bridal party, relatives of the family and a few invited guests from this vicinity, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse C. Birely celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary in the Birely residence on Carlisle street on Friday evening. The happy couple were married Nov. 10, 1897, in Mt. Zion Evangelical Lutheran church, near Ladiesburg, Md., in the most brilliant wedding known to have taken place in that vicinity to that time. Mrs. Birely, before marriage, was Miss Florence Crum, only child of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. C. Crum, of Ladiesburg, former residents of New Oxford. Mr. Birely is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Adam Birely, of Ladiesburg, and is known throughout this section as the Hay King.

The Birely residence was beautifully decorated by Florist Cremer, of Hanover, with ropes of smilax, rosebuds, carnations and ferns. Among those present for the anniversary occasion was the Rev. Richard B. Patterson, of Woodsboro, former pastor of the bride, who united Mr. and Mrs. Birely in marriage. The evening was enlivened by remarks made by the Rev. Patterson and other ministers present. Miss Mary Jane Birely and Fred Birely, children of the couple, rendered a much appreciated musical selection. Jas. Birely, the eldest son, of Harrisburg, was also present. Ropes of smilax streamed from a chandelier over the white and silver adorned wedding cake which graced a tastefully decorated table in the Birely dining room. An elaborate luncheon was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Birely were recipients of many beautiful presents. To add fun to the occasion two calithumpian serenades were tendered the "newlyweds"—one by the town calithumpians and the other by the Ushers' League of St. Paul's Reformed church, of which the "groom" is a member. After glad hands had been clasped in congratulations and many fond wishes for a long, joyous and prosperous life had been expressed to the happy couple, the guests departed for their respective homes. Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Birely were at home to their many friends in this vicinity. The Item joins in extending sincere congratulations and best wishes.

The invited guests included, beside the aforementioned, the following: Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Yonce, Avon Park, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Eckert and Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Buhrman, Chambersburg; the Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Garrett, Hallam; Dr. and Mrs. M. A. Birely, Thurmont, Md.; Dr. and Mrs. Long, Walkersville, Md.; Mrs. Wm. P. Czum, Libertytown, Md.; Dr. and Mrs. M. J. Roth, Hanover; the Rev. and Mrs. A. P. Frantz and son Alden, Elwood Myers, Arthur Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Smith, the Rev. and Mrs. W. M. Allison, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Warner, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Alwine, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Wagner and Mr. and Mrs. N. Lingg, of New Oxford, Mrs. Minnie Dicks and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Tawney, Gettysburg; Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Stough, Gettysburg; Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Caybaugh and Miss Stella Koons, Keymar, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. Birely, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Birely, and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Birely, of Ladiesburg; Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Koons, Sr. and Jr., Detour, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Birely, Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Merton Birely and Mrs. Chas. E. Eyler, Baltimore; Miss Bess Harbaugh, Middleburg, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. D. Princeton Buckley and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Roddy, Frederick, Md.; Mrs. A. Nevin Brubaker, Cleona; O. C. Turner, Circleville, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Birely, Westminster, Md.; and the following members of Mrs. Birely's S. S. class: the Misses Helen and Emma Sheets, Kathleen Slaybaugh, Helen Myers, Kathryn Wehler, and Esther Eckert and Mrs. P. J. Miller.

ROBBERS STRIP WOMAN; CUT OFF HAIR; STEAL $300

With tears in his eyes, Curtis Rummel, of near Five Points, on Saturday related a pitiful tale in the Item office of a mysterious attack made on his wife, about 8 o'clock on Friday evening, and of the theft of $300 from a sideboard in his home.

It appears that while Mr. Rummel was on a business visit, that evening, at the home of Frank Feeser, another farmer of that section, two intruders, one wearing a false face and the other dressed as a woman with a handkerchief over his face, made their way into the Rummel kitchen, even tho the door was locked, and attacked Mrs. Rummel, tearing practically all the clothing from her body, and cutting off her hair with a butcher knife. The eldest child, Ralph, aged 6, was tied fast to three chairs, on which he had been sleeping. Two other small children, Orville and Lloyd, were asleep on a cot in the kitchen.

Mrs. Rummel was washing dishes when the two men forced open the door. The woman screamed at their entry, but a butcher knife lying on a table was seized by one of the men who threatened to thrust the blade thru her heart at another outcry. Mrs. Rummel remembers little more, having evidently been felled by a blow on the head, as when she regained consciousness she suffered severe pains. About $300 which Mr. Rummel had hidden in a sideboard drawer in another room was then taken by the robbers, the kitchen and other room being thoroughly ransacked. Mrs. Rummel faintly recalls hearing a threat made that should their identity be made known the men would burn the Rummel family out of house and home.

The men loaded Mr. Rummel's shotgun with two shells lying on the mantelpiece and had the farmer come home he probably would have been shot. Efforts on the part of the men to get Mrs. Rummel to furnish information regarding the location of additional shells and the whereabouts of the money proved unavailing. Only one slight piece of clothing was left on her and water was thrown on the woman and the boy. The children slept thru the robbery.

After having secured the cash, the two made away. When Mr. Rummel returned his wife was recovering her senses. Mr. Rummel states he has an idea who the intruders were, and he has placed the matter in the hands of Sheriff Hartman. Mr. Rummel recently sold his hay, and the two men likely knew the lay of the land.

Five Points residents are at a loss for a motive for the attack on Mrs. Rummel, and little more could be learned of the attack and robbery. The woman is said to have been unwell for some time. She was unable to penetrate the disguises of her assailants.</

DOES LAUNDRY WORK AND HOUSEWORK TOO

Surprised to Find Herself Feeling So Well

Taunton, Mass. — "I used to have pains in my back and legs so badly, with other troubles that women sometimes have, that my doctor ordered me to stay in bed a week in every month. It didn't do me much good, so one day after talking with a friend who took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for about the same troubles I had, I thought I would try it also. I find that I can work in the laundry all through the time and do my housework, too. Last month I was so surprised at myself to be up and around and feeling so good while before I used to feel completely lifeless. I have told some of the girls who work with me and have such troubles to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I tell them how it has helped me. You can use my testimonial for the good of others."—Mrs. BLANCHETTE SILVIA, 69 Grant St., Taunton, Mass.

It's the same story—one friend telling another of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Embarrassing.

Willis—How do you like the combination furniture they have in some of these New York flats?

Gillis—Not at all. I went to bed in a piece of that kind of junk the other night at a friend's house and when I woke up, two women were serving breakfast on the foot-board, a fellow was signing checks on the head-board and another fellow was underneath the bed making coffee.—Life.

Something to Think About

By F. A. WALKER

FIRE UNDER ASHES

A GREAT many uncharitable, critical people run down the unfortunate man or woman, standing on the brink of discouragement and failure, without looking for the real cause.

It may be ill health, it may be shock from the loss of a loved one, it may be misfortune, which in spite of utmost vigilance comes to all of us; or it may be inaptitude or inability, but whatever the cause, let us be patient and considerate before we launch austere criticism and throw up our hands in condemnation.

If our hearts are right, and it is assumed they are, let us in a humane spirit seek to remove the ashes from the live coals beneath, and fan them into a hopeful blaze.

Whatever may be the prevailing opinion for or against such a procedure, this is the noble way, almost certain to give encouragement to the disheartened and lift them up in a new world where hope lives eternally and Truth and Mercy smile kindly, even when the storms beat hardest and the days are darkest.

If we will look deeply into despairing hearts we will find that under the ashes of sorrow there are always coals of living fire, which kindness, sympathy and unselfish helpfulness can fan into a glorious flame.

Even in the souls of the most disreputable and hardened sinners there is ever burning an immortal spark of the heavenly fire hidden somewhere beneath the slumbering gray ashes, waiting to be rescued.

And in spite of the frowns of the world, in spite of courts and prisons, in spite of bereavement, of poverty, of riches, or pomp, pride or envy, this spark survives all through our earthly existence, down to the final moment when life itself despairingly flares up and goes out, done with its temporal house of clay.

The question may then come to us as to whether we have played our part as becomes true men and women, and likewise whether the spark in our own souls has not been hidden by the ashes which we, through neglect of others, have permitted to cover and darken it.

It is so easy for sympathies and love to go blind from disuse that unless we keep them ever burning in our own hearts they will never blaze sufficiently to warm and cheer the hearts of others, lost on the way and too proud or weak to call for help.

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE

GLOOM IS CATCHING

EVEN though we are reasonably sure that the sun is still in the sky, a cloudy day depresses us. Most of us suffer from a feeling of foreboding even on a clear day, when a cloud comes between us and the distant fire that lights and warms the world.

We are similarly sensitive to all the little troubles of our lives—to anything that disturbs our regularly ordered existence.

A temporary illness—a suspicion that there are some kind of business breakers ahead—these things plunge us into gloom.

And we, in our turn, pass the gloom along. For our friends seeing the black and foreboding faces that we wear, grow gloomy, too.

One sullen-faced man in an office will sometimes spoil the day for the entire working force.

One creaker on board a ship in a storm may send the whole passenger list into something very like a panic. Nobody loves a gloomy man, but everybody listens to him, and looks at him.

The prophet of evil is never without an audience.

Poe, in his remarkable poem shows how the raven, by croaking the word "Nevermore," was able to drive a luckless poet almost to the verge of insanity.

Continual gloom is not good for the soul, any more than continual shadow would be good for the green and blossoming things upon the surface of the earth.

We all need sunshine, and a great deal of it.

It is not necessary to go about continually telling people how happy we are, like Pollyanna, but we can at least keep our troubles to ourself, and not look as if we were lumping along toward the grave or the gallows.

The gloomy man or woman in a home destroys the happiness of an entire family, and usually drives the children out on the streets, where at least there is air and sunshine, and maybe now and then a hurdy gurdy.

The reason the jazz is popular, that the comic supplement sells by the million copies, and that the comedian gets a thousand dollars a week, is because we will do anything to get rid of gloom.

It is a burden on life, a menace to human happiness. If you are a gloom addict, change your mode of thought. You are as much of a menace to the community in which you move as was "Typhoid Mary" to hers.

Mother's Cook Book

Here's a world that suffers sorrow, here are bitterness and pain, And the joy we plan tomorrow May be ruined by the rain.

—Edward Guest.

FOODS A CHILD MAY HAVE

THE foods in the following list are those a child may have, though they should not all be served in one meal, and the mother selects the foods most appropriate.

Solid foods are introduced gradually after one year of age in the diet of a normal baby.

The first meal should have as a beginning a dish of cereal, gruel, properly salted and served with milk; a piece of zwieback or crumbs of bread made soft with milk, or an egg occasionally, cooked for two minutes and thickened with bread crumbs. This is the time to form the habit of slow eating and perfect mastication. It is so important that other things should be slighted rather than neglect this, as it means a lifelong habit for health or indigestion with its ills.

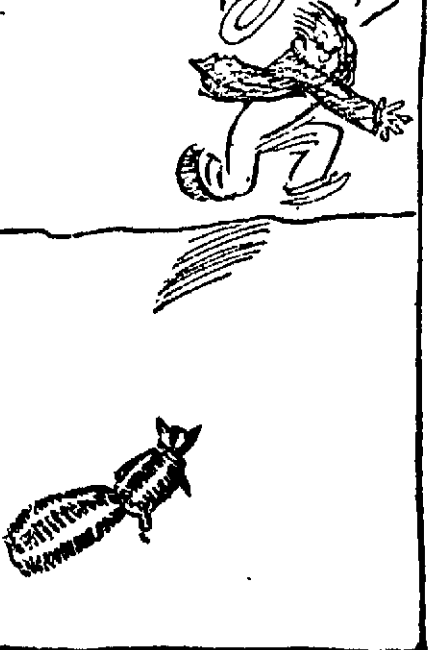

Fresh bread, hot breads and rich biscuit should never be given. Always serve bread stale enough to crumble. A good way to serve it is to cut in small squares and brown in the oven. For the child from the twelfth to the eighteenth month, fruits such as orange, pineapple, strained apple sauce, prune juice and mashed pulp, is especially good, as they contain valuable mineral salts, vitamins and acids. One ounce of the juice or fruit pulp given one-half hour before or one-half hour after their milk.

Broths.—Mutton, chicken, veal or beef broth, with rice or stale bread crumbs, five ounces; beef juice, three ounces.

Cereals.—Gruel, or cereal jellies

TODAY

I CARE not what the future holds For me alone. I only know In summer heats and winter colds I'll do the best as on I go. I'll face the future with a smile, Content to meet whatever may be; And say to all I meet the while, Today is good enough for me.

I may not win a golden store, Nor e'er achieve undying fame; But I, at least, can strive the more To squarely play life's little game. I may not build a future great Nor win renown upon the way; But I, at least, can scoff at fate, For I am master of today.

Not time, nor fate, nor circumstance Can crush the hopes that in me lie; The storms that rage, the lightning's glance, But clear the atmosphere and sky. I fear no future, for I know Whatever betide along life's way, For me the flowers bloom and blow, And I am master of today.

Come good, come ill, I will not yield To sullen frown nor adverse grasp; With utmost strength I'll stand and wield The weapons that my hands may clasp.

I'll waste no time in idle thought Of what the future hides away; As given me, so have I wrought, And I am master of today. (Copyright by Will M. Maupin.)

made of oatmeal, barley, farina, rice or wheat, four ounces.

Breads.—Zwieback, dry toast, stale bread and butter, graham cracker.

Eggs.—Soft cooked in shell, coddled, or soft poached.

Meats.—Scraped rare beef, one tablespoonful.

Milk.—One to one and one-half quarts in 24 hours. This amount includes all milk used in the cooking and preparation of the foods.

Feedings for child from twelve months to eighteen, are five in 24 hours.

Cereals are given once a day, always well cooked. Vegetables are necessary for a healthy baby past a year and a half. Potato well baked and served with butter, spinach, asparagus tips, carrots and cauliflower well cooked and mashed, one vegetable daily until two years of age, then green vegetables may be given occasionally with the potato.

Meats are given sparingly at first up to the third year, and should be finely chopped or cut. Desserts should be given sparingly up to ten years, and candy never until two years old, and then but one piece daily, always after a meal.

Guided by Electricity.

A French transatlantic steamship company was the first to experiment with the radiogoniometer invented by Bellini and Tosi. By means of this apparatus the direction of an invisible vessel, sailing along a coast and emitting wireless signals, can be determined from two stations on the shore and its course can be accurately mapped. Conversely, a vessel furnished with a radiogoniometer can determine its place near a coast by observing the directions of the waves coming from two wireless stations on the shore, and can thus make its way in a fog when the coast lights are invisible.

TRAIL LED TO CANADA

Son Lost Track of Parent After Leaving Orphanage to Go to Work—Spends All His Vacations in Search.

Montreal.—An advertisement in a local paper and two photographs—one a mental picture of a baby boy and the other a faded, old-fashioned likeness of a man taken thirty-two years ago—brought a father and son together in the lobby of a hotel here after a mutual search of fifteen years. When Bernard Leveque's wife died twenty-eight years ago he was obliged to put his two sons, a lad of seven and Bernard, Jr., aged six, in an orphanage at Ogdensburg, N. Y. The older boy died, but Bernard, Jr., thrived and went to New York to work. For fifteen years when permitted a vacation he spent it in search of his father, with the old-fashioned photograph in his possession.

Trail Led to Canada.

A month ago the son in searching for his parent came across a trail which led to Montreal, where he went a week ago after obtaining three weeks' vacation. His father had been all the while conducting a similar search, but with only a mind picture of the lad.

One morning word came to the son's room that a stranger wished to see him in the lobby of the hotel regarding an advertisement in the local paper. Carrying the yellowing picture in his hand, the boy met an elderly looking man in the lobby. The machine-made picture proved useless, as the son with the old photograph in his hand failed to recognize his father.

The phantom mind photograph was different, as Bernard Leveque, Sr., reached forward and embraced the boy whom he had not seen for twenty-eight years. Both wept with joy and it was not long before a score of guests crowded around the united father and son to listen to their stories of long search and final happy climax.

Bigamy Charge Reveals Strange Marital Mixup in South Dakota Village.

Sioux Falls, S. D.—An unusual matrimonial tangle will occupy the attention of a jury at an approaching term of Circuit court in Brown county, South Dakota, when Thomas Dunham, a prominent and wealthy farmer living near the village of Hecla, will be tried on a bigamy charge. The arrest of Dunham brought to light a strange triangular matrimonial situation.

Two sisters, each legally married to Dunham, according to marriage certificates which were produced in court at the preliminary hearing of Dunham, were in court and naturally were keenly interested in the outcome. Their maiden names were Lucile and Hannah Gross. They at one time resided on their mother's farm in Yankton county, in the extreme southeastern part of South Dakota. Neither knew of the other's marriage.

LESSON FOR NOVEMBER 19

JESUS THE FRIEND OF SINNERS

LESSON TEXT—Luke 1:37-48.
GOLDEN TEXT—This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptance, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners.—1 Tim. 1:15.
REFERENCE MATERIAL—Luke 15:1-32.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Loves Everybody.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus the Friend of Sinners.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Sympathy of Jesus.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Jesus Helps the Sinful and Sorrowful.

I. A Penitent Woman's Act of Love (vv. 37, 48).

1. Place of (v. 37). It was in the home of Simon the Pharisee while Jesus was sitting at meat. The feast must have been public, else she could not have so readily gained access.

2. The Act of (v. 38). She washed Jesus' feet with her tears and wiped them with her hair. Through some means she had heard of Jesus' pardoning grace, and God had opened her heart to receive Him as her Saviour. Out of a heart of gratitude she kissed His feet and anointed them with precious ointment.

3. Who She Was (v. 37). Her name is not mentioned. She was of a notoriously bad character. Though known to the public as a bad woman, something had happened which transformed her. She was now a saved sinner, because she believed on Jesus Christ. The moment one believes on Christ he is saved regardless of what his former life has been.

II. The Pharisee's Displeasure (v. 39).

Simon felt scandalized by such a happening at his table. He was a respectable man. For Jesus to tolerate such familiarity on the part of a woman of such evil repute greatly perplexed him. He reasoned that if Jesus were a prophet He would have known the character of this woman and would have either withdrawn His feet from her or thrust her back with them, or if He knew her character His tolerance of such familiarity proved that He was not a good man. Simon's righteousness was of that sort which gathers up its skirts and gives the sinner a backward push into his filth. If he had known who Jesus was, and what a change had been wrought in the woman's heart, he would not have been so severe.

III. Jesus Teaches the Pharisee (vv. 40-48).

He taught him by means of a parable of a creditor and two debtors. Observe that Jesus made it very clear that He not only knew the woman, but knew Simon also.

1. The Common Debt (v. 41). The woman was a sinner, so was Simon, though he was not the same kind of a sinner that she was. There were two debtors, though the one owed ten times as much as the other. This is representative of all sinners still. The Bible declares all to be sinners, yet recognizes degrees of guilt. Full credit ought to be given to the man who is honest, virtuous, generous and kind. Yet such a life will not secure entrance into heaven. The Savior's words are a severe rebuke to the respectable Pharisees who are sitting in judgment against the sinners of a coarser type.

2. The Common Insolvency (v. 42). "And when they had nothing to pay" Jesus freely granted the difference in the degree of the woman's sins and those of the Pharisee, but drove home to him the fact that they were both debtors and had nothing with which to pay (Rom. 3:23). Therefore all have need of a Saviour. As sinners we may quit our sinning and hate our deeds, but that does not make satisfaction for the sins of the past. What we have done is irrevocable—it has passed from our reach. Every transgression shall receive a just recompense of reward (Heb. 2:2). We must come to our Creditor, God Almighty, and acknowledge our insolvency and accept the kindness of Jesus Christ who bore our sins in His own body on the tree (1 Pet. 2:24). We are all paupers, and instead of judging each other as to relative guilt, we should come to God and sue for pardon.

3. The Relation of Forgiveness and Love (vv. 44-48). Simon's reluctant answer to Jesus' question shows that he got the point of Jesus' teaching. In order to make His teaching concrete He turned to the woman, calling Simon's attention to what she had done in contrast to what he had done. Simon had neglected to extend to Jesus the common courtesies of a respectable guest, but this forgiven woman had lavished upon Him her affection and gifts. The measure of one's love is determined by the measure of the apprehension of sins forgiven. The one who is forgiven most will love most.

Virtue and Vice.

COPPER ALWAYS IN DEMAND

Durability of the Metal Has Made It Almost Indispensable for Variety of Purposes.

The many uses of copper may be imagined from the size of the output. It is said that if the United States were to cease producing, either all the trolley cars or all the armies of the world would cease operating, for outside of Michigan and Montana there is not enough copper in existence to supply both.

In the building trade copper is in great demand on account of its durability. At first glance the amount of copper seems to be negligible in comparison with iron and steel. It is used for such things as roofing, flashings, cornices, gutters, drain pipes, leaders and ventilators. These are nearly all copper in the large office buildings. In the Woolworth building, in New York, which is today the world's tallest skyscraper, there is approximately a million pounds of copper used for roofings, elevators and interior decoration.

A copy of a rare pamphlet by Shelley was sold the other day at Sotheby's, London, England, for $6,000. Nothing was said in the sale catalogue of the copy, and that forms one of the little romances of the sale room. It belonged to the late Baroness Burdett-Coutts, and got hidden and unrecognized in a bundle of music and other things in one of the sales last spring of the baroness' literary property. This bundle was knocked down to a London bookseller for less than $5, and was then passed on, apparently without proper examination, to another bookseller for about $50. It was this second owner of the bundle who found that he had indeed drawn a prize.

Albe Jackson, colored, was indicted for stealing money from the station agent of a railroad. As the railroads were then under the control of the government, the trial was in a United States court.

The station agent, who was white, testified that he did not know Jackson and had never seen him before the day of the theft.

Jackson's defense was ingenious. He did not deny that he got the money from the agent, but claimed that he won it.

The presiding judge seemed astounded at the defense, and asked: "Do you mean to tell me that you won this money from the agent shooting craps?"

"Yes, sah."

KRUG BROTHERS HELD

The cases of Joseph and Milton Krug, Littlestown, charged with illegally possessing liquor of more than the permitted alcohol content, were continued until Nov. 28 after a hearing on Friday afternoon before U. S. Commissioner R. E. Wible held in the federal building at Gettysburg. The continuance was made pending the analysis of certain alcohol found by federal agents on the premises of the defendants some time ago, which is alleged to have been secured from the Williams laboratory in York. Herb Kain conducted the case for the government and at the close of the testimony made a strong plea that the defendants be held for the action of the Federal court. Attorneys Hersh and Swope made just as earnest a plea to have the charges dismissed, claiming the government did not show that the liquor found was used for beverage purposes. Mr. Kain, however, held that a prima facie case had been made out from the fact that dispensers of denatured alcohol must be in possession of a government permit and that all containers containing denatured alcohol under the federal law must be marked denatured alcohol.

Mr. Kain also maintained that the number of the formula, the name of the party to whom it is shipped and other requirements were not shown. The twenty-five 5-gal cans seized at the home of Milton Krug bore no marks of identification at all, said Mr. Kain. It is true, he said, that the three barrels found on the same premises were marked denatured alcohol and were consigned to Maurice C. Williams, York, who conducted his business in the Charles F. Welsh building. Mr. Williams' record at the time of the investigation by government officials showed that he shipped several hundred gallons of liniment, enough, Mr. Kain told the commissioner, to last the citizens of Littlestown the balance of their lives. He also pointed out that no liniment was found when the search was made, and that Joseph Krug's hotel is a licensed hotel under the Woner act and liquor found on the premises of a licensed hotel containing more than one-half of one per cent of alcohol is a direct violation of the law, and that there were three different kinds of intoxicating liquors found upon search of the hotel and all containing a high percentage of alcohol. A compromise was finally agreed upon between counsel to have the case continued until November 28. The defendants furnished bail.

COURT ITEMS

Herbert Wise, of Hanover, was fined $100 and costs to the amount of $21.15 by Judge McPherson at the opening of the November term of the quarter sessions court at Gettysburg, on Monday. He pleaded guilty to the charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. The sentence was imposed on his entering the plea. He settled at once by paying the fine and costs, and his case was discharged.

Reports of the roads and bridges out of repair constituted the returns of the constables at the opening of the November term of Quarter Sessions court on Monday. In a majority of instances the court instructed the district attorney to issue process against the supervisors.

The court appointed C. A. Fox and John Sharretts as tipstiffs for this term.

John P. Myers, of Hampton, foreman of the grand jury, presented two true bills to Judge McPherson when court re-convened after the noon recess. These were the only indictments presented for consideration, it was stated by one of the jurymen. Both bills, one against Fred Pfeffer and the other against Geo. Weaver, were actions charging statutory offenses and were said to be pending settlement.

After the true bills had been returned, Judge McPherson instructed the grand jurors to make an inspection of conditions at the County Home and at the jail. The jury reported minor recommendations to the court.

How a gate worth about $35 caused a breach in family relations and the disputants made it the subject of court action in a law suit, was related by witnesses called Tuesday in the civil action brot by Mrs. Catherine Pepple against Mrs. Margaret Lochbaum, who lived as neighbors for almost 30 years in Franklin township. Mrs. Pepple, plaintiff in the action, is suing Mrs. Lochbaum, the defendant, for damages which she avows were sustained when Mrs. Lochbaum is alleged to have partially destroyed the wooden gate which is the object in controversy. Mrs. Lochbaum, on the other hand, declares, through her counsel, that the gate obstructed a public road and because it was kept locked and bolted, she was entirely within her rights in removing the obstruction. Judge McPherson, according to law, ordered a verdict in favor of the plaintiff. Damages to the amount of $10 were awarded Mrs. Pepple, Tuesday afternoon, by the jury, of which B. S. Jenkins, Oxford township, was foreman. Mrs. Pepple announced that she intended giving the $10 to the Warner Hospital. Costs of the case, over $100, also were placed upon Mrs. Lochbaum. Motion was filed for a new trial.

Jurors have been drawn to hear the civil suit brot by the firm of Sidney J. Freeman Sons, Philadelphia, against J. M. Shorb, McSherrytown, for alleged commissions in the sale of produce for Mr. Shorb. The case is listed for trial this Thursday morning.

There will be no criminal court at this session of Quarter Sessions, it was said by District Attorney Topper, who indicated that pleas of guilty had been entered by all offenders and that several cases were pending settlement outside of court. Sentence of all offenders will take place Saturday morning.

The new Winter coats will charm you with their beauty of line and fabric

This is one of the seasons when all the styles are a "joy to behold"—coats with big fur collars; luxurious wrappy coats, beautifully embroidered dress coats or more simply tailored models. Most of them follow the straight line silhouette that is so becoming. But endless variety is introduced in the treatment of sleeves and the use of trimmings.

Our coat department is filled with the new fall fashions. You are invited to view them.

But we know that mere style will not satisfy you and so we have secured for you the most beautifully tailored coats obtainable.

Wooltex Tailor-mades

Made out of choice, all-wool fabrics, finished with a care to every detail; guaranteed to give you continued wear.

FABRICS

Every season coat fabrics grow more and more beautiful. This season presents nearly a score of new ones, such as velvet, ormadale, gerna, soft and velvety; marino, rubadre, normaglow of the soft Bolivia type.

COLORS

Black and navy have not lost their popularity but many new shades have appeared that are both beautiful and becoming. Browns that shade from the pale fallow through deer, martin, suchard to the deepest zanzibar. Lighter blues, Pretet, Sorrento, Marine and Hawaiian; the copper shades; the reds with their interesting names—Redskin, Genoise, Pomard. And these are only a few.

SLEEVES

Are worth noting this season. It seems indeed as if the coats were designed around them—kimona sleeves, pouch sleeves, sleeves of all varieties.

DRESSES

Poirot twill or some soft "crepey" silk can be your choice in dresses. In woolen materials, dresses are, of course, more simply tailored—but how they dress themselves up in gay embroidery, braiding, beading. The waist lines are still low; sleeves of all varieties. Silk dresses show the new drapes, uneven skirts, side cascades, set in circular panels.

BELTS

Metal girdles, beautifully wrought buckles on cloth belts are all in evidence and add their bit to the gaiety of the season.

MRS. HAINES THANKFUL FOR HUSBAND'S DEFEAT

Mahlon N. Haines, defeated candidate for congress, has come through defeat smiling and happy. He made this statement Wednesday: "I thank every one who voted for me and my wife thanks everybody who voted against me. I lost in the election. She won by the voters having decided that I remain at home instead of going to Washington to represent them. I went through the campaign without malice against any one; today I have malice against no one. I enjoyed my campaign immensely. That fully compensates me for the money I spent, every dollar of which was devoted to legitimate purposes only." Mr. Haines made one of the most spectacular campaigns for congress ever staged in the York-Adams district. He was lavish in his advertising and resorted to many original publicity stunts. Mr. Haines called at the office of Congressman-elect S. F. Glatfelter Wednesday morning and there congratulated the victor.

Samuel F. Glatfelter, congressman-elect, said: "I appreciate all the voters have done for me. They may depend upon me to give them the safe and sane representation I promised."

Fr. James Spalding, formerly of Littlestown, is rector of the Catholic church at Spangler, where an explosion of "fire damp" was responsible for the death of 83 miners. Following the explosion Father Spalding accompanied the rescuing squads into the mine, going in at 8 o'clock Monday morning and remaining there until 1:30 o'clock Tuesday morning to administer to the men. Forty members of his church were among those who died. Many more miners were at Mass that morning, Father Spalding having started a mission on Sunday, or the death list would no doubt have been greater. Father Spalding is a brother of Misses Regina and Addie Spalding, of Littlestown.

How Not to Take Cold—Some persons are subject to frequent colds, while others seldom, if ever, have a cold. You will find that the latter take good care of themselves. They take a shower or cold sponge bath every day in a warm room, avoid over heated rooms, sleep with a window open or partly open, avoid excesses, over eating, becoming over heated and then chilled and getting the feet wet. Then, when they feel the first indication of a cold, they take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy without delay and it is soon over.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Haas, Hanover, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Tuesday a week. Among other gifts they received $50 in gold. Mr. and Mrs. Haas lived 24 years in Union township, this county, and for ten of those years he was justice of the peace of the township. He began teaching in 1872 and for a number of years was a school teacher and in 1904 again took up teaching which he followed until spring of 1922 when he retired under the new school code, having reached age of 70 years.

Two black bears were brought back Monday from the wilds of Sullivan county by the party of Adams county hunters who spent three days in the "bear" district of the state last week. Eddie Pank, Gettysburg, shot the prize bruin on Armistice Day. The animal, which weighs 310 pounds, was bagged five miles back in the woods. It was hauled on a sled by a team of horses for four miles and carried another mile by eight men. Robert Beil, of Gettysburg, brought back a 200-lb. bear that he shot last Friday.

Geo. E. Motter, of Two Taverns, one of the leading Poland China hog breeders of Adams county, went to Kansas City, Mo., to attend a two-day dispersal sale of 150 Poland China hogs.

Glass of Salts Cleans Kidneys

If your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you, drink lots of water.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulate them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts: take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus often ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this: also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and back-ache.

Ah! Backache Gone Rub Lumbago Away

Rub Pain from back with small trial bottle of old
"St. Jacobs Oil."

Ah! Pain is gone!
Quickly?—Yes. Almost instant relief from soreness, stiffness, lameness and pain follows a gentle rubbing with "St. Jacobs Oil."

Rub this soothing, penetrating oil right on your painful back, and like magic, relief comes. "St. Jacobs Oil" is a harmless backache, lumbago and sciatica remedy which never disappoints and doesn't burn the skin.

Straighten up! Quit complaining! Stop those torturous "stitches." In a moment you will forget that you ever had a weak back, because it won't hurt or be stiff or lame. Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" from your druggist now and get this lasting relief.

RED PEPPERS END RHEUMATIC PAINS

When you are suffering with rheumatism so you can hardly get around just try Red Pepper Rub and you will have the quickest relief known.

Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers. Instant relief. Just as soon as you apply Red Pepper Rub you feel the tingling heat. In three minutes it warms the sore spot through and through. Frees the blood circulation, breaks up the congestion—and the old rheumatism torture is gone.

Rowles Red Pepper Rub, made from red peppers, costs little at any drug store. Get a jar at once. Use it for lumbago, neuritis, backache, stiff neck, sore muscles, colds in chest. Almost instant relief awaits you. Be sure to get the genuine, with the name Rowles on each package.

HEAD STUFFED FROM CATARRH OR A COLD

Says 'Cream' Applied in Nostrils
Opens Air Passages Right Up.

Instant relief—no waiting. Your clogged nostrils open right up; the air passages of your head clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, sniffling, blowing, headache, dryness. No struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh disappears.

Get a small bottle of Eiy's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic, healing cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or swollen mucous membrane and relief comes instantly.

It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed up with a cold or nasty catarrh.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.

SULPHUR IS BEST TO CLEAR UP UGLY, BROKEN OUT SKIN

Any breaking out or skin irritation on face, neck or body is overcome quickest by applying Menthosulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, nothing has ever been found to take the place of this sulphur preparation that instantly brings ease from the itching, burning and irritation.

Menthosulphur heals eczema right up, leaving the skin clear and smooth. It seldom fails to relieve the torment or disfigurement. A little jar of Rowles Menthosulphur may be obtained at any drug store. It is used like cold cream.

HANGED AT FREDERICK

While a vast throng clamored outside the walls and beat upon the door for admission to the jail yard, Wm. A. Stultz was hanged at Frederick on Friday morning for the murder of Policeman John H. Adams, who on Aug. 9th attempted to seize Stultz's auto for a debt. Death which ensued 7 minutes after the trap was sprung was due to a broken neck. Stultz maintained an iron nerve to the last and died without any expression of remorse for his crime. As the shroud was placed around him in his cell, he said, "Let go." As he came out of his cell he was confronted by a number of men and women who witnessed the execution. "Ladies and gentlemen," he said, "Good-bye to you all." Mounting the scaffold with firm step, he washed his face and hands in a basin of water he carried to the gallows, declaring this would purge him of all sins. He declared his punishment was unjust. Turning to Sheriff James A. Jones, he said, "They're making a worse murderer of you than I was."

Stultz said he intended making a speech, but upon the advice of his spiritual advisor he had abandoned the thought. A moment later, however, he launched into abuse of local authorities and blamed them for causing his crime. As his last "good-bye to you all" rang out, Sheriff Jones sprung the trap. Mrs. Adams, widow of the slain policeman, witnessed the execution.

A Timely Suggestion.—This is the season of the year when the prudent and careful housewife replenishes her supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed before the winter is over and results are much more prompt and satisfactory when it is kept at hand and given as soon as the first indication of a cold appears and before it has become settled in the system. There is no danger in giving it to children as it contains no opium or other harmful drug.

York and Adams county P. O. S. of A. camps have been urged to send delegations to the public meeting which will be held in Trinity Reformed Chapel, Hanover, tonight, under auspices of Hanover Camp No. 328, when the Hon. Gabriel Moyer, National President, will be the principal speaker. There will be representatives from at least 40 camps.

Chamberlain's Tablets Have Done Her a World of Good.—"Chamberlain's Tablets have done me a world of good," writes Mrs. Ella Button, Kirkville, N. Y. "I have recommended them to a number of my friends and all who have used them praise them highly." When troubled with indigestion or constipation, give them a trial and realize for yourself what an excellent medicine it is.

An attempt on the part of a farm hand to smoke a rabbit from under a corn shock caused a loss of $25,000 to Jacob Hoffmans, when every building on his farm, his crops and live stock were burned near Marietta. WOMEN GIVE OUT

Housework is hard enough when healthy. Every woman who is having backache, blue and nervous spells, dizzy headaches and kidney or bladder troubles, should be glad to heed this grateful woman's experience:

Mrs. H. W. Miller, 212 Baltimore St., Hanover, Pa., says: "I think a cold disordered my kidneys. My back became so sore that when I lay down I couldn't get the proper amount of sleep or rest. Often during the day a cutting pain went through my kidneys when I stooped at my work. I was annoyed by my nerves for a long time and my sight was blurred by tiny spots. My kidneys acted irregularly. I saw in the newspaper how highly Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended so I got some. Doan's did me good from the start and it wasn't long before I was rid of the trouble."

SOLDIER COMMITS SUICIDE WHEN GIRL REFUSES HIM

Unrequited love of a divorced woman who sought reconciliation with her former husband was declared to be the cause of the suicide of Serg. Jennings Bias, who was a soldier at Gettysburg, Sunday in a crowded downtown lunch room in Washington. Bias, now stationed at Camp Humphreys, Va., shot himself with a 45-calibre revolver when Miss Margaret Bowers, a waitress in the restaurant, for the third time that day refused to marry him, saying she wished to return to her husband, O. E. Eckenrode, of Hagerstown, Md. When the man entered the lunch room he produced his revolver and told the girl he was going to "wind up everything." Miss Bowers fled to the kitchen, and before people could reach Bias he fired the revolver. The bullet passed through his temple. Bias was drunk at the time of the shooting, Miss Bowers charged.

Margaret Bowers told the authorities she came to Washington a year ago from Gettysburg. The waitress accompanied the dying man in the ambulance to the hospital, where she, too, prostrated by his plight, was withheld by friends. According to friends, who told the woman's story given between sobs, she said: "Bias frequently threatened to kill both of us." She admitted her love for her husband.

Men and women from eight counties, including Adams, who are rendering service in children's work in the various communities, will meet in Harrisburg tomorrow for the first Inter-County Conference on Child Care. The Paradise Protector and the Hoffman orphanage will be represented at the meeting, according to reports from Harrisburg.

Sunday, at the home of Harry Lillich, near Abbottstown, a wedding dinner was served in honor of Mr. and Mrs. George Hoffmann and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Reachard. Mrs. Hoffmann's before her marriage was Miss Planché Freese, of Abbottstown, and Mrs. Reachard was Miss Bernice Hoffmann, of Adams Mills.

In behalf of the Warner Hospital, Mrs. Martha McKay, superintendent of the institution, Tuesday made public a letter in which she thanks the people of Adams county who contributed foodstuffs and supplies to the hospital for use during the coming winter.

Mrs. Charles Keefer, of Littlestown, underwent an operation for internal trouble in the office of Dr. J. D. Keller, Hanover, on Saturday. Following the operation Mrs. Keefer was taken to her home where she is now improving.

Professor G. A. Stern, of the attendance bureau, State Department of Education, is spending several days in Adams county checking up attendance records in public schools. There are a few instances where attendance has been lax.

HERE AND THERE

P. Ward Stallsmith, of Gettysburg, and H. E. Eyster, York, have returned on a two weeks' hunting trip to Aroostic Co., Maine, with a bag of game consisting of a bear, four deer and ten partridges. The trip was made by automobile. Both shot the limit in deer and partridges. The bear was shot by Mr. Eyster, who is a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Winand, of New Oxford.

The holy communion service in the Reformed church in Abbottstown was well attended last Sunday. Ninety per cent. of the members communed. Three members, Mr. and Mrs. C. Grim and Mrs. Clyde Miller were received and the offering for the apportionment was very liberal. A catechetical class will be organized in the Abbottstown Reformed church on Saturday at 1:30 p. m.

George Bollinger and family Wednesday moved from Bittinger to Spring Grove into the house of L. L. Bittinger.

A cow brot $105 at the sale of Chas. G. Carbaugh held recently at Mt. Pleasant. Mr. Carbaugh has moved to Hanover.

Mrs. Louisa Ditzler, Abbottstown, had a severe attack of nose bleeding Saturday morning. She succeeded in stopping the bleeding after several hours, and except for weakness is all right again.

On Monday a week as Mrs. Seright Neil, Bermudian, was ascending a ladder in the wood house to get some articles from the loft she lost her balance. In trying to prevent herself from falling her left hand caught on a hedge knife, severely cutting the palm of her hand. Dr. E. W. Cashman, York Springs, dressed the wound.

Reynolds Helman, York Springs, raised 625 bushels of potatoes from three acres.

Mrs. Caroline Mehrling, of Littlestown, left Friday for Aspinwall to spend the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Earl Rudisill, and family.

The road between Maple Grove chapel and D. S. Auchey's residence is closed owing to the construction of a concrete bridge over the creek. This bridge has been needed for several years.

Eugene, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen C. Wagner, Abbottstown, started a fire in an upstairs room of their residence Monday a week, and before it was discovered and extinguished had burned a number of good dresses of Mrs. Wagner and did considerable damage to the woodwork and papering of the room.

The Rev. Park Gardner, pastor of the Hustontown M. E. charge, in Fulton county, went out gunning for turkey on Monday a week and bagged a large gobbler. Tuesday morning he and Mrs. Gardner motored over to Sulphur Springs farm near York Springs where that evening the turkey was cooked and served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Gardner. William M. Gardner, of Erie, was also present.

Mr. and Mrs. Benj. J. Sentz, Littlestown, R. D. 2, Sunday observed their golden wedding anniversary. They were married on Nov. 12, 1872, at Littlestown, by the Rev. Dr. Williams. In celebration of the anniversary a dinner was served at their home to their children, other relatives and a number of life-long friends. Mr. and Mrs. Sentz were the recipients of a number of valuable and beautiful gifts, including $67.50 in gold. Mrs. Sentz before marriage was Miss Sarah Feebe and resided in Mt. Joy township. She is now 68 years old. A carpenter spent his early days as a carpenter and later took to farming, which he still follows at the age of 72 years.

Saturday, Armistice Day, the American Red Cross began its annual Roll Call for members at One Dollar, and the call ends Nov. 30. In memory of the magnificent work of the American Red Cross during the World War it should be a pleasure and privilege to renew membership. The first question one may ask himself or herself is, What becomes of my dollar? The half of it goes to local work—in helping the disabled ex-service man and his family, in helping the children to be better citizens physically, in encouraging baby clinics and in helping to answer needs as they arise anywhere in the county. And where does the other half of the Red Cross dollar go that is sent to National Headquarters? It is set aside to meet disasters and emergency.

Among the hearings scheduled to come before the Public Service Commission in Harrisburg on Friday is the case of Charles A. Plank vs. Benton D. Gilbert, alleging that the respondent is operating automobile buses as a common carrier for the transportation of passengers in Gettysburg and vicinity, without having first obtained a certificate of public conveyance.

Rev. Seth Russell Downie, of Frostburg, Md., formerly of the Huntersburg Presbyterian church, has been elected pastor of the Pine Grove Presbyterian church, in the southern part of York county. It is understood the call will be accepted, due largely to the unsettled conditions at Frostburg, on account of the miners' strike.

Orders have been received by Farm Bureau officials of Adams county for more than 500 steers to be purchased by an agent of the Adams County Cooperative Steer Feeding Assn., in the operative Steer Feeding Assn., this week. D. C. Sheely, of Cashtown, agent for the association, and Paul Hoffman, county farm agent, left for Chicago last evening to purchase the stock which will be brought here to be fattened over the winter months.

"Cancer is on the increase in the United States and the only way the fatalities from the disease can be reduced is by closer co-operation between the victims and physicians," Dr. W. E. Klopp, of Philadelphia, declared while speaking Sunday evening at a meeting in Xavier Hall, Gettysburg, before a fair-sized audience. Dr. Klopp came here as a representative of the American Medical Society and under the auspices of the Adams County Medical Society in connection with the observance of Cancer Week throughout the United States.

Adams county, according to figures recently compiled in Pennsylvania, is one of the six counties in the State where the rural population is barely holding its own in the mad rush of people for cities. York county's decrease in rural population is 3.3%.

The new cement road from Kralltown to Wellsville has been finished. The stretch of road between Spring Grove and the Lincoln Highway is about completed.

Charles Anderson and family moved the past week from Abbottstown to York.

The East Berlin Reformed mile society will hold a chicken and waffle supper on Saturday evening.

Electric lights were installed in the Abbottstown public school building, last week.

A reward of $25 will be paid to the person furnishing evidence leading to the arrest and conviction of the party or parties who took property belonging to the borough away from the East Berlin Square.

Charles Schildt, White Hall, has purchased a new Ford coupe.

Congress was called by President Harding Thursday to meet in extra session November 20, exactly two weeks in advance of the regular session.

Gettysburg's and Hanover's celebration of the end of the World War on Saturday morning was each marked by a dignified and solemn observance. In the first inner-collegiate football game played in Hanover, Gettysburg college eleven ran rough shod over the Mt. St. Mary's eleven Saturday winning 51 to 6. The crowd present was estimated at 2,500 persons.

At Saturday's meeting, the Bankers' Assn. of Adams County elected the following officers for the coming year: Dr. W. E. Wolf, Arendtsville, pres.; I. L. Taylor, Gettysburg, v. pres.; and Harry L. Snyder, Gettysburg, treas. The council of administration named included the following: Edwin C. Tyson, Dr. E. H. Markley and E. M. Benson, Gettysburg; W. R. Jones, Littlestown, and H. S. Reigle, McSherrystown. Thirteen of the 16 banks of the county were represented at meeting.

An automobile having as occupants students of the Univ. of Pittsburgh enroute from Pittsburgh to Philadelphia, where Saturday their football team played the Univ. of Pennsylvania eleven, struck and killed a young buck deer that attempted to run across the Lincoln Highway in front of their car in the South Mountain west of Cashtown, late Thursday night. The students took the carcass of the animal on board with the intention of later having it mounted as a trophy. It is said, but abandoned the animal at a Gettysburg garage when told it would be illegal to keep the deer without reporting to the proper authorities.

Leo Bushman, County Game Warden, gave the deer to the Warner Hospital.

The disappearance from her home in York of Myrna Smith is enshrouded in complete mystery. She is a daughter of W. D. Smith. The girl left home Sunday night to go "down town". Since that time no trace has been found of her. It is possible that she may have gone to Winesboro with a friend, known to the family only as "Sam", as since her disappearance some elderly man, posing as "Sam's" father, called at the house and questioned the mother as to the disappearance of the girl. He did not give his name, but left the impression that he was from Winesboro. It is also possible that she may have gone to Gettysburg to visit a relative without informing the folks at home of her intentions.

Two young girls who on Wednesday escaped from the Maryland Industrial School For Girls located at Reisterstown were found by the York police at the home of Mrs. Bettie Sprengle the married sister of one of them in York, Friday morning. The girls are Rose Zeigler, 18 years old, of Westminster, and Margaret Slade, 20 years old, Taneytown, Md. A third girl, who also went to York, was not located. The trio walked as far as McSherrystown, where they were picked up by a motorist and taken to York. Judge Ross Monday, after hearing testimony in habeas corpus proceedings permitted Margaret Slade to have her freedom under bond of $500 to appear in court at any time within 6 months. Rose Zeigler was taken back to Maryland.

Before Judge McPherson the official count, which began Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock, was concluded at 7:30 the same day. Court House officials said the count had been completed in record time. At the Thursday evening session, Judge McPherson appointed Robert C. Paxton, judge of elections in the 3rd ward of Gettysburg, as return judge for the congressional election. Clinton E. Tawney and T. Marshall Mehrling, a former county prothonotary, were deputized to record the votes. The official count gives McSparran a majority of 2,349 in Adams county, the largest for a state candidate in this county in many years. Governor-elect Pinchot's official count was 3,191. The county gave only 549 votes for the amendment as against 3,044 in opposition to it. For legislature, Grover C. Myers, Dem., had 4,811 votes to 3,916 for M. E. Knouse.

Building Up a Climax

Just a Little Smile

LACKING IN CONSIDERATION

As long as the grass in a Chicago public park is healthy and green the citizens seem to look upon it as some sort of garden and keep off of it, as the signs command them. When it begins to die out, however, their respect for it instantly vanishes.

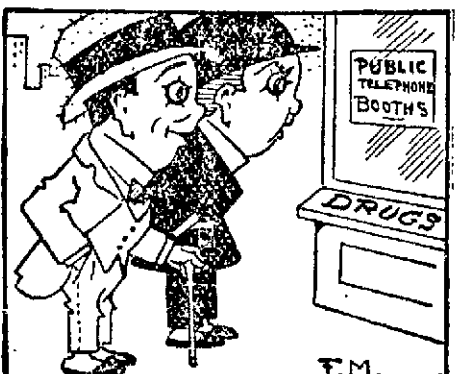

A man in a hurry started one day to cut across a yellow patch in the upper park, but was stopped by a policeman. "What difference does it make?" demanded the citizen. "The grass is half dead already."

"Sure," said the indignant officer, "if ye had a sick friend would ye be walkin' on his stomach?"—Harper's Magazine.

An Ideal Tenant.

Applicant—You advertised for a janitor, sir. I am a married man—no children; neat, honest, patient and tactful.

Landlord—I regret that the place is supplied, my friend—but wait! Couldn't I secure you as a tenant?

Philosophic Citizen—You must take what you can get these days. Weary One—Yes, but some of these telephone numbers I get aren't of the slightest use to me.

Preferred a Pearl.

"The stork has brought a little peach," the nurse said with an air. "I'm mighty glad," the father said, "He didn't bring a pair."

A Reputation to Maintain.

"I notice you have certain pet phrases you put into all your editorials."

"I have to do that in self-defense," replied the editor of the Chiggersville Clarion.

"Why so?"

"To refute the base insinuation that they are written by my office boy."

Unskilled Help.

A couple of tourists were gazing at the sculptured front of a certain church, when one of them quoted the remark about art being the handmaid of religion.

"If that is so," returned the other, glancing again at the crudely carved figures, "Religion ought to give her a month's notice."

His Goal Won.

"You have no ambition," complained his young wife.

"Not now," he replied indolently. "You never did have any."

"Oh, yes, I did; but I achieved my ambition when I acquired a rich father-in-law."

Selfish Man.

Bluebeard—You have the freedom of the entire house excepting the closet. This, you must never enter.

His Eighth Wife—Do you mean to keep an entire closet for yourself when I haven't room to hang half my things?

Chance to Observe.

"There's one thing about the new styles."

"What, for instance?"

"I never realized before there were so many good-looking girls in this town."

In Danger.

"Guess I'll have to pen up my goat. He used to loaf around wagons parked in the village square and eat hay."

"Well?"

"But now he's learning to drink gasoline."

A Telling Stroke.

The hare easily caught up with the tortoise. "Well, old man, you're not much of a runner, are you?" he sneered.

"No," admitted the tortoise. "I'm not, I think I'll try for the crew. You see, I'm quite at home in the shell."

As It Were.

"And you and your wife get into arguments, of course, about things?"

"Well, I can't say we argue, but she does a red-hot monologue."

A Flip Flapper.

"What's your favorite hymn?" one of those inquiring reporters asked a flapper the other day.

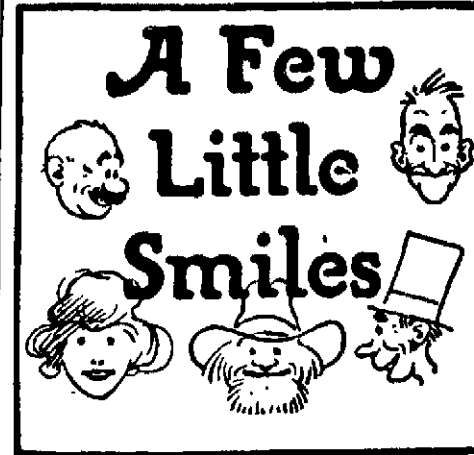

"I've got three or four," she answered promptly, "but I think I like Harry the best."

Out of Date.

Aunt Lucy—If you keep such late hours you'll ruin your pretty, natural complexion.

Philippa—They're not wearing natural complexions now; they're all covered up.

A Few Little Smiles

SOMETHING TO QUARREL OVER

"What was that long-distance telephone message?"

"A fellow in a neighboring town was kicking about the length of our radio waves," said the head of a broadcasting station. "He claimed they kept him from 'listening in' on a concert up in Pittsburgh."

"What did you tell him?"

"I asked him if he thought he owned the air."

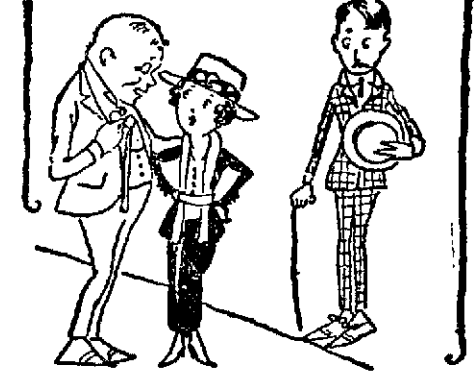

Hence the Lawyers.

"In the divorce court already?"

"Yes."

"I thought they said they were made for each other."

"Matrimony is like buying a bungalow. You never know how many alterations will be needed until after you move in."

A BACK NUMBER

Her Father—You'd better be good to young Slowboy. He's a fine fellow—plenty of horse sense.

Sally Speedup—Horse sense won't help these days. He doesn't know a radiator from a spark plug.

In Jungletown.

Said Miss Giraffe, "I wear, you see, My wrist-watch 'round my neck; I do it by request, because The town clock is a wreck."

Wise Woman.

"There's one thing I don't like about Mr. Grubcoin."

"What?"

"He doesn't give his wife any credit for his success."

"He couldn't very well do that. She didn't marry him until he was in a position to give her the luxuries to which she had been accustomed."

Plazza Persiflage.

"Last Tuesday evening," writes Miss K. M., "we were sitting on the piazza when mother remarked: 'I wonder why the mosquitoes are so bad tonight.'"

"I guess you've forgotten, ma," said my brother who is full of fun. "It's the first of the month, and every one presents their bills, you know."

Reason to Be Thankful.

Blondine—Did you go to the circus? Brunetta—Yes, and I am certainly glad of it.

Blondine—Why? Brunetta—Because ever since I saw the hippopotamus I have been more satisfied with my shape.

Nothing to Hinder.

He—I cannot go to the theater so often—I must think about my bills.

She—Well—can't you think about your bills in the theater?

Handicapped.

"So Bill married that plump little girl who used to giggle so much."

"Yes, Bill evidently believes in a short wife and a merry one."

TOO MUCH FOR HIM

1st Germ—What's wrong with you?

2nd Germ—Oh heavens; one of those infernal Cooties has gotten on me.

Then It Happened.

A stranger dared to referee a prairie football game. Although he may recover, he will never look the same.

Thought He Was It.

Mrs. Hoyle—I wonder if that conductor kept my fare.

Mr. Doyle—Very likely; I have heard that the road was in the hands of a receiver.

Disadvantage of Delay.

"Didn't you get any letters at all?" asked Jamie's mother when he returned from the postoffice.

"No, mamma," he replied soberly. "Next time you'll have to send me earlier, 'cause when I got there they was all gone."

Well, Where?

Mabel (reading)—"Full many a flower is born to blush unseen."

James—It surely doesn't mean society buds. Where in the world could they blush without being seen?

LOST IN JUNGLE; ALMOST STARVED

Explorer Lives on Monkeys and Snakes in the Wilds of Brazil.

New York—Lost 25 days in a Brazilian jungle, Ernest C. Holt, explorer, lived on meat cut from poisonous snakes and monkeys. He told of this adventure when he returned from South America with his wife on the Pan American. He had been away three years and he collected hundred specimens for the American Museum of Natural History.

TASTED SOMETHING LIKE EEL.

On one of his exploring trips Mr. Holt and a companion got lost in the jungle and ran out of food.

"We lived mostly on monkeys during the 25 days," he said, "but on one occasion we had to resort to eating snake stew or face starvation. We ate the stew. We had killed a poisonous snake about nine feet long, cut off its head, took out the sirloin and stewed it. It tasted something like eel. Not so good, you know, but then hungry tastes good when you're real hungry."

THIS TELL'S AIM BAD, KILLS

Bullet Intended to Knock Off Hat Penetrates Victim's Skull—Races Serious Charge.

St. Xavier, Mont.—William Cosgrove, deputy sheriff and foreman of a large cattle ranch near St. Xavier, is at liberty under $3,000 bonds, facing a charge of manslaughter for unsuccessfully attempting to duplicate the feat of the historic Wilhelm Tell.

Cosgrove is a dead shot with his trusty revolver. In a spirit of friendly rivalry Henry Obendorf, twenty-one, a stranger in these parts without any known relatives, challenged Cosgrove to shoot his hat off his head. Surrounded by the "boys" waiting for "chow," Cosgrove fired. The shot whizzed past the top of Obendorf's hat. The youth repeated the challenge. Cosgrove fired again, but forgot that part of Obendorf's head was in the hat, and the bullet tore through the top of his skull. Obendorf died before medical aid arrived and Cosgrove gave himself up to the sheriff.

RAT FIGHTS FOR CRACKER

Rodent Attacks Little Girl on Street—Pedestrian Grabs It by Tail and Kills It.

New York—Emboldened by hunger, a huge rat, one of a number seen recently just outside of Bronx park, attacked Helen Miller, four years old, playing with other children and tore away a piece of one stocking before an onlooker clutched the animal by its tail and dashed it to death on the sidewalk.

She dropped a box of crackers she was carrying. Instantly the rat ran toward her from its hiding place at the fence. Her socks had slipped down over her shoe tops and the rat, presumably trying to bite her, sunk its teeth in the sock.

A rat hunt ensued. Half a dozen, all large and vicious, were killed. Keepers in the Bronx zoo said the rats went into the lion and tiger cages in search of scraps of meat.

Lightning Kills Five Cows Attached to One Chain

New York—Five cows, all attached to the same chain were killed on Frank Ford's farm, a few miles from the village of Unionville, Orange county, by a bolt of lightning. Another bolt ripped off a section of the steeple of Grace church in Port Jervis.

Wooing in the Dark

By JESSIE DOUGLAS

(© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Molly began to sing to herself. Across the fields she could hear the tree-toads strumming their guitars, and a little chorus of sleepy birds made her laugh with delight.

It was pure delight. Meadow-sweet in the air and the whisper of grass under her feet and a pail on her arm that was to bring back fresh butter. She gave a sudden start.

"I can't do it!"

It was almost dark now, but she could see the foot bridge across which she must step to reach the other river bank. There wasn't even a hand-rail. But how could she go back and face Mrs. Bascom and admit that she was just one of "those silly city girls" who was afraid to cross the bridge?

"If there were only some other way to cross," Molly said aloud.

"There isn't."

The voice sounded out of the darkness so close at hand that Molly jumped.

"If you wish," the voice went on, "I'll see that you get across."

"Oh, I do," Molly said breathlessly. She stepped out ahead of her and she saw by the stars that he was tall and straight, and as he gave her his hand she knew by its pressure that he was strong. She scarcely breathed until she reached the other side.

"Thank you," she sighed.

He walked a little distance apart from her and she saw that he was looking down at her. She was grateful that he could only see the faint blur of her figure in the dusk.

"You have to go back again, I suppose," the voice went on, "and if you'll let me, I'll see that you get back safely. I'm Jim Stevens over at the Hales'."

It was pleasant talking to a man like this by starlight. Molly forgot all her self-consciousness. She was just like any other girl talking to a young man under a slip of a July moon, just as young, just as charming, just as pretty.

"If you'll wait here I'll go in and get the butter," she told him as the farmhouse loomed up.

She was grateful that the porch was in darkness, and that when she passed into the lighted kitchen the door closed after her.

He was waiting for her when she came out and she felt her heart beat with a new sense of happiness.

It was the first time a young man ever had waited for her outside a gate; it was the first time she had ever talked serenely unconscious of herself to any man. She drank in all the joy of the moment as they sauntered "home" to Mrs. Bascom's.

"May I see you again?" Jim Stevens asked her as they came to the white farmhouse. Molly caught her breath. She knew what it would mean if he saw her again.

"But perhaps we—you—might be disappointed next time!" she tried to say lightly.

"Disappointed?" he asked. "I know when I first heard your voice you were pretty? How disappointed?"

She couldn't answer him.

He said suddenly: "If its introductions you're thinking about I'll ask Mr. Haley to come over to Mrs. Bascom's and bring me along and introduce me tomorrow afternoon."

"Oh, no!" Molly gasped. "But I might meet you tomorrow night down by the bridge." Then she ran into the house.

The first thing she did was to climb breathlessly the steep stairs to her own room, then she lighted the kerosene lamp, and, taking care to pull down the shade, she went over to the crinkly mirror and studied herself. No, she was just the same. Her hair was not gold and curly, it was mouse-colored and very straight. She had nothing in the way of a Greek profile, but an apology of a nose, and her eyes were not large and lustrous, but gray and sweet and unnoticeable altogether. It was not that that troubled her so much, but across one temple was a mark, a delicate blue mark that time would never erase and that her hair would never quite cover.

It was this that made her self-conscious, wretchedly sure that girls were pitying her and men turning away from the sight with disgust. It was this that made her promise to meet Jim Stevens after dusk.

Just now she told herself she should have all the joy of talking to a man and pre-arranging she was pretty. She could pretend.

Next evening she met Jim Stevens down by the bridge. She wore a white dress with some airy ruffles that made her seem some delicate moth as she fluttered down to him. She lifted her face bravely, sure that that tell-tale scar was hidden. They talked and laughed and came singing back along the road to the Bascom's and Jim carried her promise that she would meet him the next night.

"But why this Cinderella business?" he asked her. "I do believe there's something mysterious about you; you won't go canoeing with me, you won't go picnicking with me—have I done something? Is it still that lack of proper introduction?"

He was still so sure of this feeling of hers about an introduction that he dragged Mrs. Haley over to call on Mrs. Bascom next afternoon, but Molly, hiding in her closet, refused to bear the calls for her. She waited to come out until she heard the retreating footsteps of the callers.

It was not until she had known him about two weeks that Jim began to tell her about himself. She heard with a new terror clutching at her heart that he was a poster artist.

Molly had almost steeled herself to meeting him in daylight, but this decided her. Her summer idyl should end as it had begun, romantically, charmingly, in darkness.

The night before she was going home Jim kissed her. She knew she would never forget that kiss as long as she lived, and she knew his voice with that inflection would always haunt her. "Lovely little Molly."

It was the end. He had not said he loved her. But it would always be sweet to remember that his voice had been tender and he had thought her lovely.

Next morning she was going back to the city where she worked and lived in the big institution that housed working girls who did not earn over $1,200 a year. She was going back to work and heartache and longing, but always she would have something to remember.

She waved good-bye to Mrs. Bascom and saw her train come in and then a young man stepped on the platform and said: "I'm going too, Molly."

Molly stared at Jim Stevens with fear in her eyes and the shamed blood coloring her cheeks. He continued to look down at her endearingly. Ruthlessly she pushed back the hair from the blue-purple scar across her temple and faced him ready for the stab.

He was either blind or oblivious to this thing that had haunted her girlhood.

"You couldn't run away from me like that, Molly," he said. "We're going back together!"

She continued to stare at him unbelievably until he swept her up the steps of the train.

"But don't you see—" she asked. "I do see that when you're Mrs. James Stevens I'll have to take proper care of you."

So Molly awoke to the knowledge that love sees with an inner eye and sees only the things that are lovely.

HAVE NATURAL DREAD OF FIRE

Miners Realize There Is Little Chance of Escape When Their Worst Enemy Appears.

Nothing is so much dreaded by the miner as fire, says a writer in Adventure magazine. When millions of tons of rock begin to settle down he is not frightened. He goes among them when they are being splintered in all directions and are cracking like pistons.

One reason why a fire in a mine is so much dreaded is because there are so few avenues of escape open to the miners. Probably there is but a single shaft—if the mine is connected with no other—and up this, a thousand or fifteen hundred feet, or more, he must go to escape.

In case of a fire there is liable to be a panic. A panic in a church or other building on the surface is a terrible thing; then what must be a panic in a mine where there are 800 or 1,000 men, perhaps, all to go up a single shaft a thousand feet or more, a cage-load at a time? At such times, too, there are explosions of gases which extinguish all of the lights, and the men rushing to and fro are exposed to danger of pitfalls in the shape of chutes, winzes and other excavations.

All these things being often in the miner's mind give him a wonderful delicacy of nostril. He can scent a fire from afar. He knows the smell of burning fuse, of giant powder, of black powder and of everything with which fire ordinarily comes in contact in a mine, and the scent of these is no more noticed than is noticed the air he breathes on the surface of the earth; but let any unusual substance be ignited and, like the hunted stag, his nose is in the air at once.

Suns Squeeze Themselves.

The sun is a great globe, 886,000 miles in diameter; beside it the earth is the merest speck. All the planets combined would hardly do more than ripple the solar surface if they should plunge into it.

The sun shines by its own heat, though not by fire, for fire implies combustion. On the sun elements are far too hot for anything approaching chemical union as we know it to take place. Neither is solar heat generated by friction or contraction.

The sun has not varied its output of energy greatly for many millions of years. Its energy is molecular. Deep in its center there are complex, radio active elements. When the solar system was in the shape of a nebula it absorbed prodigious quantities of light and heat. This energy was stored in the atoms. Now that the sun is condensed into a sphere, it is giving this energy out again, and we feel it as warmth.

Greeley Had Learned Wisdom.

When, after the death of Virginia, there was talk of Poe marrying again, Horace Greeley wrote to a friend:

"Do you know Sarah Helen Whitman? Of course you have heard it rumored that she is to marry Poe. Well, she seemed to me a good girl, and you know what Poe is. Now, I know a widow of doubtful age will marry almost any sort of a white man, but this seems to me a terrible conjunction. Has Mrs. Whitman no friend within your knowledge that can faithfully explain Poe to her?"

"I never attempted this sort of thing but once, and the net result was two enemies and a hastening of the marriage."—From "Poe the Man" in the Mentor.

CHANGES IN HATS

Headgear Is Wider and Broader for Fall and Winter.

No Longer Crushes Into Shape—Built Upon Frames That Stand Away From the Head.

The first demand of every woman for the new season's fashion is that her hats shall be in fine trim—that she shall adorn her head according to the latest dictates of style. Her dresses may pass—she can at least wear a suit—but an oldish hat is something too damning for words, observes a fashion critic in the New York Times.

Now the hats of the present season have changed just as much as the frocks. They are wider and broader. They no longer crush into shape, but are built upon frames that stand away from the head and create a formality of line entirely new.

From Paris comes the news that the tricorne will be more popular than ever. But it is a very much elaborated tricorne. It is larger than it has been for some time. It spreads out on three sides with the abandon that only a hat of French origin can show.

As for the felt hats, they are no more numerous than the straw hats were in the summer. There are silk and satin hats and duvety hats and velvet hats, but felt hats, those real exponents of the winter mode, are much in the minority. However, they are smarter this season than they ever have been before. On the streets, in the places where smart women gather, you will find the felt hats usurping the center of the stage.

They are blocked into interesting shapes, usually with puffed and draped crowns, and they are made with narrow brims, sometimes wider at the sides, that drop over the faces and give a mushroom effect to the general contour of the hat. The trimming is very sparsely done.

Girl's Coat.

Ideal for the boarding school or college girl is a fur coat made of gray kimmer, with collar, pockets and cuffs bound with black leather.

FLAT CREPE IS NEW FABRIC

Nome, Beautiful Silk of Compact Texture and Fine Quality—Entered in All Shades.

With the establishment of a new silhouette it is only natural that a new fabric should also gain favor, for in the expression of a decided vogue an adaptable material is always of paramount importance. That flat crepe is the material of the moment is more than hearsay, and its popularity a recognized fact.

Nome, a new flat crepe, is a beautiful silk of a compact texture and fine quality. It has the soft almost noncrushable characteristic that distinguishes materials that are all pure silk and that is such a decided asset in a fabric of its weight. The absolute perfection necessary in the weaving of a flat crepe gives Nome the quality appeal desired in dresses of the better sort.

The vogue for this flat silk is based on many apparent reasons. In the development of the circular and draped silhouette the grace and folds of the design are most appreciated in a fabric that catches the light on its many surfaces. A frosted sheen that is a feature of this fabric enhances in its very nature the flowing lines of today's gowns. Nome is offered in all the radiant shades to be featured in formal gowns this autumn and is exceptionally handsome in navy blue and black.

Brilliant Buttonry.

Buttons of wood, brilliantly hand-painted, lend the needed touch of color to some of the new frocks, wraps and blouses. Originally finds expression

A NEW LONG WALKING DRESS

EARRINGS VOGUE IN PARIS

Long Crystal Drops Particularly Favored—Pearl Tassels, Antique Designs, Onyx Used.

Earrings are decidedly in vogue in Paris. The long crystal drops are particularly favored, more so than rings or hoops.

There is a clever trick among French women of wearing one earring—a long one—dangling down over the shoulder, and the other ear without any decoration.

Pearl tassels are favorite earrings. Of course, the idea is to have earrings for each costume, and sometimes women have more than one pair for a favorite frock. These harmonize in color and design with both the frocks with which they are to be used.

There is a vogue for wearing earrings containing little portraits in miniature—of anybody one wishes, of course.

With the present vogue for white, jade earrings of this lovely stone are of course in high favor.

Old earrings of gold and silver are in demand and ancestral jewel cases as well as antique shops are being called on for them.

There are some earrings made of onyx, set with pearls, that are tremendously effective.

And with the revival of coral, anything of coral may be worn in the way of earrings.

Tight-Fitting Sleeves.

In contradistinction to the wide, flowing sleeve effects that are current now, the dresses of newest conception from abroad adopt the simple, tight-fitting sleeves of the tailor-made type of garment. This handling was noted in cloth tailored dresses, and again in soft silk and velvet modes.

Autumn Colors.

Brown and navy are among the most favored colors for street costumes. Evening dresses show the tendency toward shades of yellow, rose and sapphire and feature a low-cut neckline, much draping and no sleeves.

Accessories of attire this season, as never before. Nothing too startling, nothing too undreamed of; provided always that its use is as unwarranted and as unrestrained in a way as the idea is unique.

FLOWING VEILS ADDS TO HAT

They Tend to Bring Otherwise Plain Headgear Into Harmony With Modern Gown.

Veils are good just now, especially when long and flowing, notes a fashion correspondent in the New York Times. They bring an otherwise plain hat into harmony with all the draping and fluffiness of the modern gown, and add that touch of picturesqueness which is so essential if the hat is to carry out the newer, sweeping lines established by the recently created models.

The vogue for lace has reached the veil to stay, for a veil these days is of little or no worth if it does not show a lacy pattern as it stretches over the face and sweeps over the shoulders. Some women prefer to wear their veils rather short, with only the suggestion of a lacy fringe over the eyes, and others to have yards and more yards to theirs so that they can wrap the filmy lengths about their shoulders and still have ample ends to trail carelessly in stray breezes.

Metal Cloth.

Metal cloth wraps are brilliant indications of a glittering year. They come in bright gold or bright silver, with luxurious fur collars and gorgeous linings. Often a bit of embroidery or brocade is added.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

(© 1922, Western Newspaper Union.)

It is faith that bridges the land of breath To the realms of the souls departed, That comforts the living in days of death And strengthens the heavy-hearted. It is faith in his dreams that keeps a man Face front to the odds about him, And he shall conquer who thinks 'he can.' In spite of the throngs who doubt him. —Edgar Guest.

WHAT TO EAT

Let us eat more nuts. When properly masticated they are the finest of food.

Fruit Salad With Nuts.

—Take a slice of pineapple for each serving. place on each a small ball of seasoned cottage cheese, or cream cheese may be used. Sprinkle with finely minced walnut meats and serve with a spoonful of rich mayonnaise.

Another is prepared with a slice of pineapple cut into cubes; add twelve dates and one orange, one sliced banana and salad dressing. Cube the pineapple, dates and orange, add these to one-half cupful of walnut meats and the banana. Garnish with maraschino cherries. Mix well, adding enough good salad dressing to moisten. Serve in lettuce cups.

Spiced Walnuts.

—Take two cupfuls of walnut meats, one cupful of sugar, one-fourth of a cupful of water, three-fourths of a teaspoonful of cinnamon. Mix the sugar and water and boil until it hardens in water. Take from the fire, stir in the cinnamon and add the walnuts. Stir until the nuts are thoroughly coated with the sirup. Spread on a platter to cool.

Sponge Cake With Cream Filling.

Beat the yolks of six eggs until thick and light-colored. Gradually beat in one cupful of sugar and add one-half cupful of boiling water. Flavor with a teaspoonful of lemon extract and gradually beat in one and one-half cupfuls of pastry flour sifted with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Bake in two layers, put together with cream filling and feed with caramel icing.

Cream Filling.

—Mix together seven-eighths of a cupful of sugar with one-third of a cupful of flour, one-eighth of a teaspoonful of salt. Beat the two eggs and stir into the mixture, add two cupfuls of scalded milk to the flour and sugar, stirring constantly until cooked and thick. Add a tablespoonful of butter, cool and flavor with vanilla.

Elderberry Pie.

Remove the ripe fruit from the stems, fill a pastry-lined shell with the berries, add a little sugar, one tablespoonful of vinegar and two of flour. Cover with strips of pastry or cover as desired and bake in a slow oven.

Old-fashioned flowers' I love them all:

The morning glories on the wall, The pansies in their patch of shade, The violets stolen from the glade, The bleeding hearts and columbine Have long been garden friends of mine.

But memory every summer floods About a clump of hollyhocks. —Edgar Guest.

DELICIOUS DRINKS

A delicious drink may be made by combining grape juice with ginger ale.

The two flavors blend well, and one gives zest to the other.

Grape Juice and Ginger Ale Jelly.

—Heat a pint of grape juice with two tablespoonfuls of sugar. When hot, pour over two tablespoonfuls of granulated gelatin which has been soaked in a little water. Add one pint of ginger ale. Cool, let stand on ice until ready to serve.

Coffee Marshmallow Cream.

—Soak two tablespoonfuls of gelatin in two tablespoonfuls of cold water until soft. Add two cupfuls of strong boiling hot coffee and stir until the gelatin is dissolved. Add one-fourth cupful of sugar, one cupful of condensed milk, one-half teaspoonful of vanilla and one-quarter of a cupful of marshmallows, added just before chilling.

Fruit Jelly.

—Pour two cupfuls of boiling water over one-half cupful of sugar, and when dissolved add two tablespoonfuls of gelatin soaked in two tablespoonfuls of cold water, then add one cupful of pineapple juice, three tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, and when the mixture begins to thicken add one and one-third cupfuls of pineapple cut in cubes. Rinse a mold in cold water and turn in the mixture.

Milk Jelly.

—Soak one and one-half tablespoonfuls of gelatin in one-half cupful of water. Cook two cupfuls of milk with four tablespoonfuls of sugar and the grated rind of a lemon over a slow fire. Add the soaked gelatin and stir until dissolved. Let stand until the milk is well flavored, then strain into a wet mold. Serve with cream and sugar.

Why punch has a delicious flavor is very refreshing. Take one cupful of whey and one and one-quarter cupfuls of sugar and boil together for five minutes. Cool and add one quart of whey, the juice of two lemons and one cupful of shredded pineapple.

FREEDOM FROM LAXATIVES

Discovery by Scientists Has Replaced Them.

Pills and salts give temporary relief from constipation only at the expense of permanent injury, says an eminent medical authority.

Science has found a newer, better way—a means as simple as Nature itself.

In perfect health a natural lubricant keeps the food waste soft and moving. But when constipation exists this natural lubricant is not sufficient. Medical authorities have found that the gentle lubricating action of Nujol most closely resembles that of Nature's own lubricant. As Nujol is not a laxative it cannot gripe. It is in no sense a medicine. And like pure water it is harmless and pleasant.

Nujol is prescribed by physicians; used in leading hospitals. Get a bottle from your druggist today.—Advertisement.

MAN ELECTROCUTED

Edw. Walton, 30 years old, of Mechanicsburg, an employee of the Cumberland Valley Electric company, was electrocuted Thursday at noon, when he came in contact with a live wire carrying 13,000 volts. With Lloyd Altland, of Hillsburg, district manager of the company, Walton was engaged in some work on the line at the rear of the York Springs hotel. Walton climbed the pole, while Altland remained at the bottom.

The victim had no more than reached the top of the pole, when he called to Altland: "I am hit." The latter saw the body of his co-worker pitch forward and fall on the wire. With the aid of Jos. Jacobs, of York Springs, son of the proprietor of the hotel, Altland brot the body to the ground. An ambulance and physicians from Harrisburg were rushed to the scene, but their services were not required. The deceased is survived by his parents and wife. Dr. C. G. Crist, coroner of Adams county, after an investigation decided death was purely accidental.

MAN TAKES POISON

Gerald Keefe, of McSherrystown, was taken to the Warner hospital, Gettysburg, Saturday, suffering from a dose of poison taken Saturday night, reports from the latter place state. A report being circulated in McSherrystown is to the effect that the young man, who had been separated from his wife, Ruth Keefe, Hanover, was visited by her Saturday evening and that together they took a stroll towards Conewago chapel. It was declared that while with her he took the poison. This report is then to the effect that he went to his home, where Dr. Rice was summoned and that the physician probably saved his life by first methods after which he was rushed to the hospital. It is said that he is expected to recover.

Altho there is thought to be some improvement in his condition, the would-be suicide is not out of danger. It is said that it may take as long as ten days to throw off the effects of the poison.

OVERCOME BY GAS

Mr. and Mrs. Levi H. Eckert, a venerable Hanover couple, were found unconscious from the effects of inhaling illuminating gas in their bedroom yesterday afternoon, having been overcome during the night and unable to summon help. They were found stupefied in bed, when an entrance was forced into the house, by Paul Koehler, a butcher, who is a business friend of Mr. Eckert. When he was unable to get a response from anyone in the house, and upon learning from neighbors that neither Mr. nor Mrs. Eckert was seen about the house yesterday morning, he was convinced that something was wrong. Upon examination, a gas jet in the room was found to be partly open. The supposition is that Mr. Eckert upon retiring failed to close the jet tightly.

Mr. Eckert, who is about 76 years of age, is a retired cattle dealer. Mrs. Eckert is also in the seventies. They have one son Paul Y. Eckert, Ocean Grove, N. J., who was at once notified.

STRUCK BY AUTO

Henry Bollinger, of near Greenmount, was taken in a critical condition to the Warner Hospital as the result of having been struck by an automobile while returning home from work Saturday afternoon. A preliminary examination disclosed that he sustained a fracture at the base of the skull and possible internal injuries. Bollinger was employed as a laborer at the farm of William Paul, Greenmount. He was near his home, when it is reported the machine driven by J. M. Creeger, of Thurmont, struck him. Bollinger, who is about 60 years old, it is said, was walking along the left side of the road and started across to talk with Charles Reiger. Bollinger, it is said, failed to look behind him and was unaware of the approach of the automobile. He was thrown to the concrete roadway with great force and Creeger brot his machine to a standstill within a few feet. Bollinger was placed in the machine and rushed to the hospital. The four men in the Maryland car were returning from the football game at Hanover, Saturday afternoon.

Bollinger has regained consciousness and appears to be greatly improved.

MR. AND MRS. J. C. BIRELY

CELEBRATE JOYOUS OCCASION

In the presence of the bridal party, relatives of the family and a few invited guests from this vicinity, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse C. Birely celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary in the Birely residence on Carlisle street on Friday evening. The happy couple were married Nov. 10, 1897, in Mt. Zion Evangelical Lutheran church, near Ladesburg, Md., in the most brilliant wedding known to have taken place in that vicinity to that time. Mrs. Birely, before marriage, was Miss Florence Crum, only child of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. C. Crum, of Ladesburg, former residents of New Oxford. Mr. Birely is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Adam Birely, of Ladesburg, and is known throughout this section as the Hay King.

The Birely residence was beautifully decorated by Florist Cremer, of Hanover, with ropes of smilax, rosebuds, carnations and ferns. Among those present for the anniversary occasion was the Rev. Richard B. Patterson, of Woodboro, former pastor of the bride, who united Mr. and Mrs. Birely in marriage. The evening was enlivened by remarks made by the Rev. Patterson and other ministers present. Miss Mary Jane Birely and Fred Birely, children of the couple, rendered a much appreciated musical selection. Jas. Birely, the eldest son, of Harrisburg, was also present. Ropes of smilax streamed from a chandelier over the white and silver adorned wedding cake which graced a tastefully decorated table in the Birely dining room. An elaborate luncheon was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Birely were recipients of many beautiful presents. To add fun to the occasion two calithumpian serenades were tendered the "newlyweds"—one by the town calithumpians and the other by the Ushers' League of St. Paul's Reformed church, of which the "groom" is a member. After glad hands had been clasped in congratulations and many fond wishes for a long, joyous and prosperous life had been expressed to the happy couple, the guests departed for their respective homes. Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Birely were at home to their many friends in this vicinity. The item joins in extending sincere congratulations and best wishes.

The invited guests included, beside the aforementioned, the following: Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Yonce, Avon Park, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Eckert and Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Buhrman, Chambersburg; the Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Garrett, Hallam; Dr. and Mrs. M. A. Birely, Thurmont, Md.; Dr. and Mrs. Long, Walkersville, Md.; Mrs. Wm. P. Cjurm, Libertytown, Md.; Dr. and Mrs. M. J. Roth, Hanover; the Rev. and Mrs. A. P. Frantz and son Alden, Elwood Myers, Arthur Snyder, Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Smith, the Rev. and Mrs. W. M. Allison, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Warner, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Alwine, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Wagner and Mr. and Mrs. M. Linge, of New Oxford, Mrs. Minnie Dicks and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Tawney, Gettysburg; Mr. and Mrs. M. Stough, Gardners; Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Caybaugh and Miss Stella Koons, Keymar, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. Birely, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Birely, and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Birely, of Ladesburg; Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Koons, Sr., and Jr., Detour, Md.; Dr. and Mrs. Clarence Birely, Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Merton Birely and Mrs. Chas. E. Eyer, Baltimore; Miss Bess Harbaugh, Middleburg, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. D. Princeton Buckley and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Roddy, Frederick, Md.; Mrs. A. Nevins Brubaker, Cleona; O. C. Turner, Circleville, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Birely, Westminster, Md.; and the following members of Mrs. Birely's S. S. class: the Misses Helen and Emma Sheets, Kathleen Slaybaugh, Helen Myers, Kathryn Wehler, and Esther Eckert and Mrs. P. J. Miller.

ROBBERS STRIP WOMAN;

CUT OFF HAIR; STEAL $300

With tears in his eyes, Curtis Rummel, of near Five Points, on Saturday related a pitiful tale in the Item office of a mysterious attack made on his wife, about 8 o'clock on Friday evening, and of the theft of $300 from a sideboard in his home.

It appears that while Mr. Rummel was on a business visit, that evening, at the home of Frank Feiser, another farmer of that section, two intruders, one wearing a false face and the other dressed as a woman with a handkerchief over his face, made their way into the Rummel kitchen, even tho the door was locked, and attacked Mrs. Rummel, tearing practically all the clothing from her body, and cutting off her hair with a butcher knife.

The oldest child, Ralph, aged 6, was tied fast to three chairs, on which he had been sleeping. Two other small children, Orville and Lloyd, were asleep on a cot in the kitchen.

Mrs. Rummel was washing dishes when the two men forced open the door. The woman screamed at their entry, but a butcher knife lying on a table was seized by one of the men who threatened to thrust the blade thru her heart at another outcry.

Mrs. Rummel remembers little more, having evidently been felled by a blow on the head, as when she regained consciousness she suffered severe pains. About $300 which Mr. Rummel had hidden in a sideboard drawer in another room was then taken by the robbers, the kitchen and other room being thoroughly ransacked. Mrs. Rummel faintly recalls hearing a threat made that should their identity be made known the men would burn the Rummel family out of house and home.

The men loaded Mr. Rummel's shotgun with two shells lying on the mantelpiece and had the farmer come home he probably would have been shot. Efforts on the part of the men to get Mrs. Rummel to furnish information regarding the location of additional shells and the whereabouts of the money proved unavailing. Only one slight piece of clothing was left on her and water was thrown on the woman and the boy. The children slept thru the robbery.

After having secured the cash, the two made away. When Mr. Rummel returned his wife was recovering her senses. Mr. Rummel states he has an idea who the intruders were, and he has placed the matter in the hands of Sheriff Hartman. Mr. Rummel recently sold his hay, and the two men likely knew the lay of the land.

Five Points residents are at a loss for a motive for the attack on Mrs. Rummel, and little more could be learned of the attack and robbery. The woman is said to have been unwell for some time. She was unable to penetrate the disguises of her assailants.

N. O. IMPROVEMENT CO. FORMED ON THURSDAY

The New Oxford Improvement Co. was organized at a meeting in the C. of C. hall on Center Square on Thursday evening, the following officers being elected: Dr. W. R. Snyder, pres.; W. C. Alwine, v. pres.; G. M. Spangler, secy., and J. R. Weaver, treas.

The company has a present voluntary membership of 20 and others will be solicited. Another important meeting of the company will be held this evening at the same place to elect directors, appoint committees and approve by-laws. The motives of this company will be cheerfully explained by any of the officers or members. It is claimed the company will make every effort to erect a number of dwellings in the near future and residents will be given the opportunity to purchase same on the building and loan principle. This is an excellent move in the direction of relieving the house shortage in New Oxford and it deserves the hearty support of every citizen having the welfare of the town and community at heart.

ATLAS PORTLAND CEMENT

THE same spirit of progress that replaced the horse with the automobile, has replaced temporary, inflammable buildings with permanent fire-proof structures.

One man has done much toward this change—your building material dealer—by heavy personal investment in slow moving, low profit stock—building materials. His judgment in favor of permanence is vindicated by its nation wide acceptance. His judgment on individual materials is equally good. He calls Atlas "the Standard by which all other makes are measured."

LESSON FOR NOVEMBER 19

JESUS THE FRIEND OF SINNERS

LESSON TEXT—Luke 1:37-48.
GOLDEN TEXT—This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptance, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners.—1 Tim. 1:15.

REFERENCE MATERIAL—Luke 15:1-32.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Loves Everybody.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus the Friend of Sinners.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Sympathy of Jesus.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Jesus Helps the Sinner and Sorrowful.

Jesus Helps the Sinner and Sorrowful.

I. A Penitent Woman's Act of Love (vv. 37, 48).

1. Place of (v. 37). It was in the home of Simon the Pharisee while Jesus was sitting at meat. The feast must have been public, else she could not have so readily gained access.

2. The Act of (v. 38). She washed Jesus' feet with her tears and wiped them with her hair. Through some means she had heard of Jesus' pardoning grace, and God had opened her heart to receive Him as her Saviour. Out of a heart of gratitude she kissed His feet and anointed them with precious ointment.

3. Who She Was (v. 37). Her name is not mentioned. She was of a notoriously bad character. Though known to the public as a bad woman, something had happened which transformed her. She was now a saved sinner, because she believed on Jesus Christ. The moment one believes on Christ he is saved regardless of what his former life has been.

II. The Pharisee's Displeasure (v. 30).

Simon felt scandalized by such a happening at his table. He was a respectable man. For Jesus to tolerate such familiarity on the part of a woman of such evil repute greatly perplexed him. He reasoned that if Jesus were a prophet He would have known the character of this woman and would have either withdrawn His feet from her or thrust her back with them, or if He knew her character His tolerance of such familiarity proved that He was not a good man. Simon's righteousness was of that sort which gathers up its skirts and gives the sinner a backward push into his filth. If he had known who Jesus was, and what a change had been wrought in the woman's heart, he would not have been so severe.

III. Jesus Teaches the Pharisee (vv. 40-48).

He taught him by means of a parable of a creditor and two debtors. Observe that Jesus made it very clear that He not only knew the woman, but knew Simon also.

1. The Common Debt (v. 41). The woman was a sinner, so was Simon, though he was not the same kind of a sinner that she was. There were two debtors, though the one owed ten times as much as the other. This is representative of all sinners still. The Bible declares all to be sinners, yet recognizes degrees of guilt. Full credit ought to be given to the man who is honest, virtuous, generous and kind. Yet such a life will not secure entrance into heaven. The Savior's words are a severe rebuke to the respectable Pharisees who are sitting in judgment against the sinners of a coarser type.

2. The Common Insolvency (v. 42). "And when they had nothing to pay" Jesus freely granted the difference in the degree of the woman's sins and those of the Pharisee, but drove home to him the fact that they were both debtors and had nothing with which to pay (Rom. 3:23). Therefore all have need of a Saviour. As sinners we may quit our sinning and hate our deeds, but that does not make satisfaction for the sins of the past. What we have done is irrevocable—it has passed from our reach. Every transgression shall receive a just recompense of reward (Heb. 2:2). We must come to our Creator, God Almighty, and acknowledge our insolvency and accept the kindness of Jesus Christ who bore our sins in His own body on the tree (1 Pet. 2:24). We are all paupers, and instead of judging each other as to relative guilt, we should come to God and sue for pardon.

3. The Relation of Forgiveness and Love (vv. 44-48). Simon's reluctant answer to Jesus' question shows that he got the point of Jesus' teaching. In order to make His teaching concrete He turned to the woman, calling Simon's attention to what she had done in contrast to what he had done. Simon had neglected to extend to Jesus the common courtesies of a respectable guest, but this forgiven woman had lavished upon Him her affection and gifts. The measure of one's love is determined by the measure of the apprehension of sins forgiven. The one who is forgiven most will love most.

WHY DRUGGISTS RECOMMEND SWAMP-ROOT

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine.

It is a physician's prescription.

Swamp-Root is a strengthening medicine. It helps the kidneys, liver and bladder do the work nature intended they should do.

Swamp-Root has stood the test of years. It is sold by all druggists on its merit and it should help you. No other kidney medicine has so many friends.

Be sure to get Swamp-Root and start treatment at once.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper. Advertisement.

COPPER ALWAYS IN DEMAND

Durability of the Metal Has Made It Almost Indispensable for Variety of Purposes.

The many uses of copper may be imagined from the size of the output. It is said that if the United States were to cease producing, either all the trolley cars or all the armies of the world would cease operating, for outside of Michigan and Montana there is not enough copper in existence to supply both.

In the building trade copper is in great demand on account of its durability. At first glance the amount of copper seems to be negligible in comparison with iron and steel. It is used for such things as roofing, flashings, cornices, gutters, drain pipes, leaders and ventilators. These are nearly all copper in the large office buildings. In the Woolworth building, in New York, which is today the world's tallest skyscraper, there is approximately a million pounds of copper used for roofings, elevators and interior decoration.

WHERE FORMALITY IS WAIVED

Introductions Not Absolutely Demanded When Gentlemen Engage in Game of Craps.

Albe Jackson, colored, was indicted for stealing money from the station agent of a railroad. As the railroads were then under the control of the government, the trial was in a United States court.

The station agent, who was white, testified that he did not know Jackson and had never seen him before the day of the theft.

Jackson's defense was ingenious. He did not deny that he got the money from the agent, but claimed that he won it.

The presiding judge seemed astounded at the defense, and asked: "Do you mean to tell me that you won this money from the agent shooting craps?"

"Yes, suh."

"Why, the agent doesn't know you—never saw you before that day?"

"Deed, judge, you don't have to know folks tuh shoot craps wif 'em!" —Judge.

KRUG BROTHERS HELD

The cases of Joseph and Milton Krug, Littlestown, charged with illegally possessing liquor of more than the permitted alcohol content, were continued until Nov. 28 after a hearing on Friday afternoon before U. S. Commissioner R. E. Wible held in the federal building at Gettysburg. The continuance was made pending the analysis of certain alcohol found by federal agents on the premises of the defendants some time ago, which is alleged to have been secured from the Williams laboratory in York. Herb Kain conducted the case for the government and at the close of the testimony made a strong plea that the defendants be held for the action of the Federal court. Attorneys Hersh and Swope made just as earnest a plea to have the charges dismissed, claiming the government did not show that the liquor found was used for beverage purposes. Mr. Kain, however, held that a prima facie case had been made out from the fact that dispensers of denatured alcohol must be in possession of a government permit and that all containers containing denatured alcohol under the federal law must be marked denatured alcohol.

Mr. Kain also maintained that the number of the formula, the name of the party to whom it is shipped and other requirements were not shown. The twenty-five 5-gal. cans seized at the home of Milton Krug bore no marks of identification at all, said Mr. Kain. It is true, he said, that the three barrels found on the same premises were marked denatured alcohol and were consigned to Maurice C. Williams, York, who conducted his business in the Charles F. Welsh building. Mr. Williams' record at the time of the investigation by government officials showed that he shipped several hundred gallons of liniment, enough, Mr. Kain told the commissioner, to last the citizens of Littlestown the balance of their lives. He also pointed out that no liniment was found when the search was made, and that Joseph Krug's hotel is a licensed hotel under the Woner act and liquor found on the premises of a licensed hotel containing more than one-half of one per cent of alcohol is a direct violation of the law, and that there were three different kinds of intoxicating liquors found upon search of the hotel and all containing a high percentage of alcohol. A compromise was finally agreed upon between counsel to have the case continued until November 28. The defendants furnished bail.

COURT ITEMS

Herbert Wise, of Hanover, was fined $100 and costs to the amount of $21.15 by Judge McPherson at the opening of the November term of the quarter sessions court at Gettysburg, on Monday. He pleaded guilty to the charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. The sentence was imposed on his entering the plea. He settled at once by paying the fine and costs, and his case was discharged.

Reports of the roads and bridges out of repair constituted the returns of the constables at the opening of the November term of Quarter Sessions court on Monday. In a majority of instances the court instructed the district attorney to issue process against the supervisors.

The court appointed C. A. Fox and John Sharretts as tipstiffs for this term.

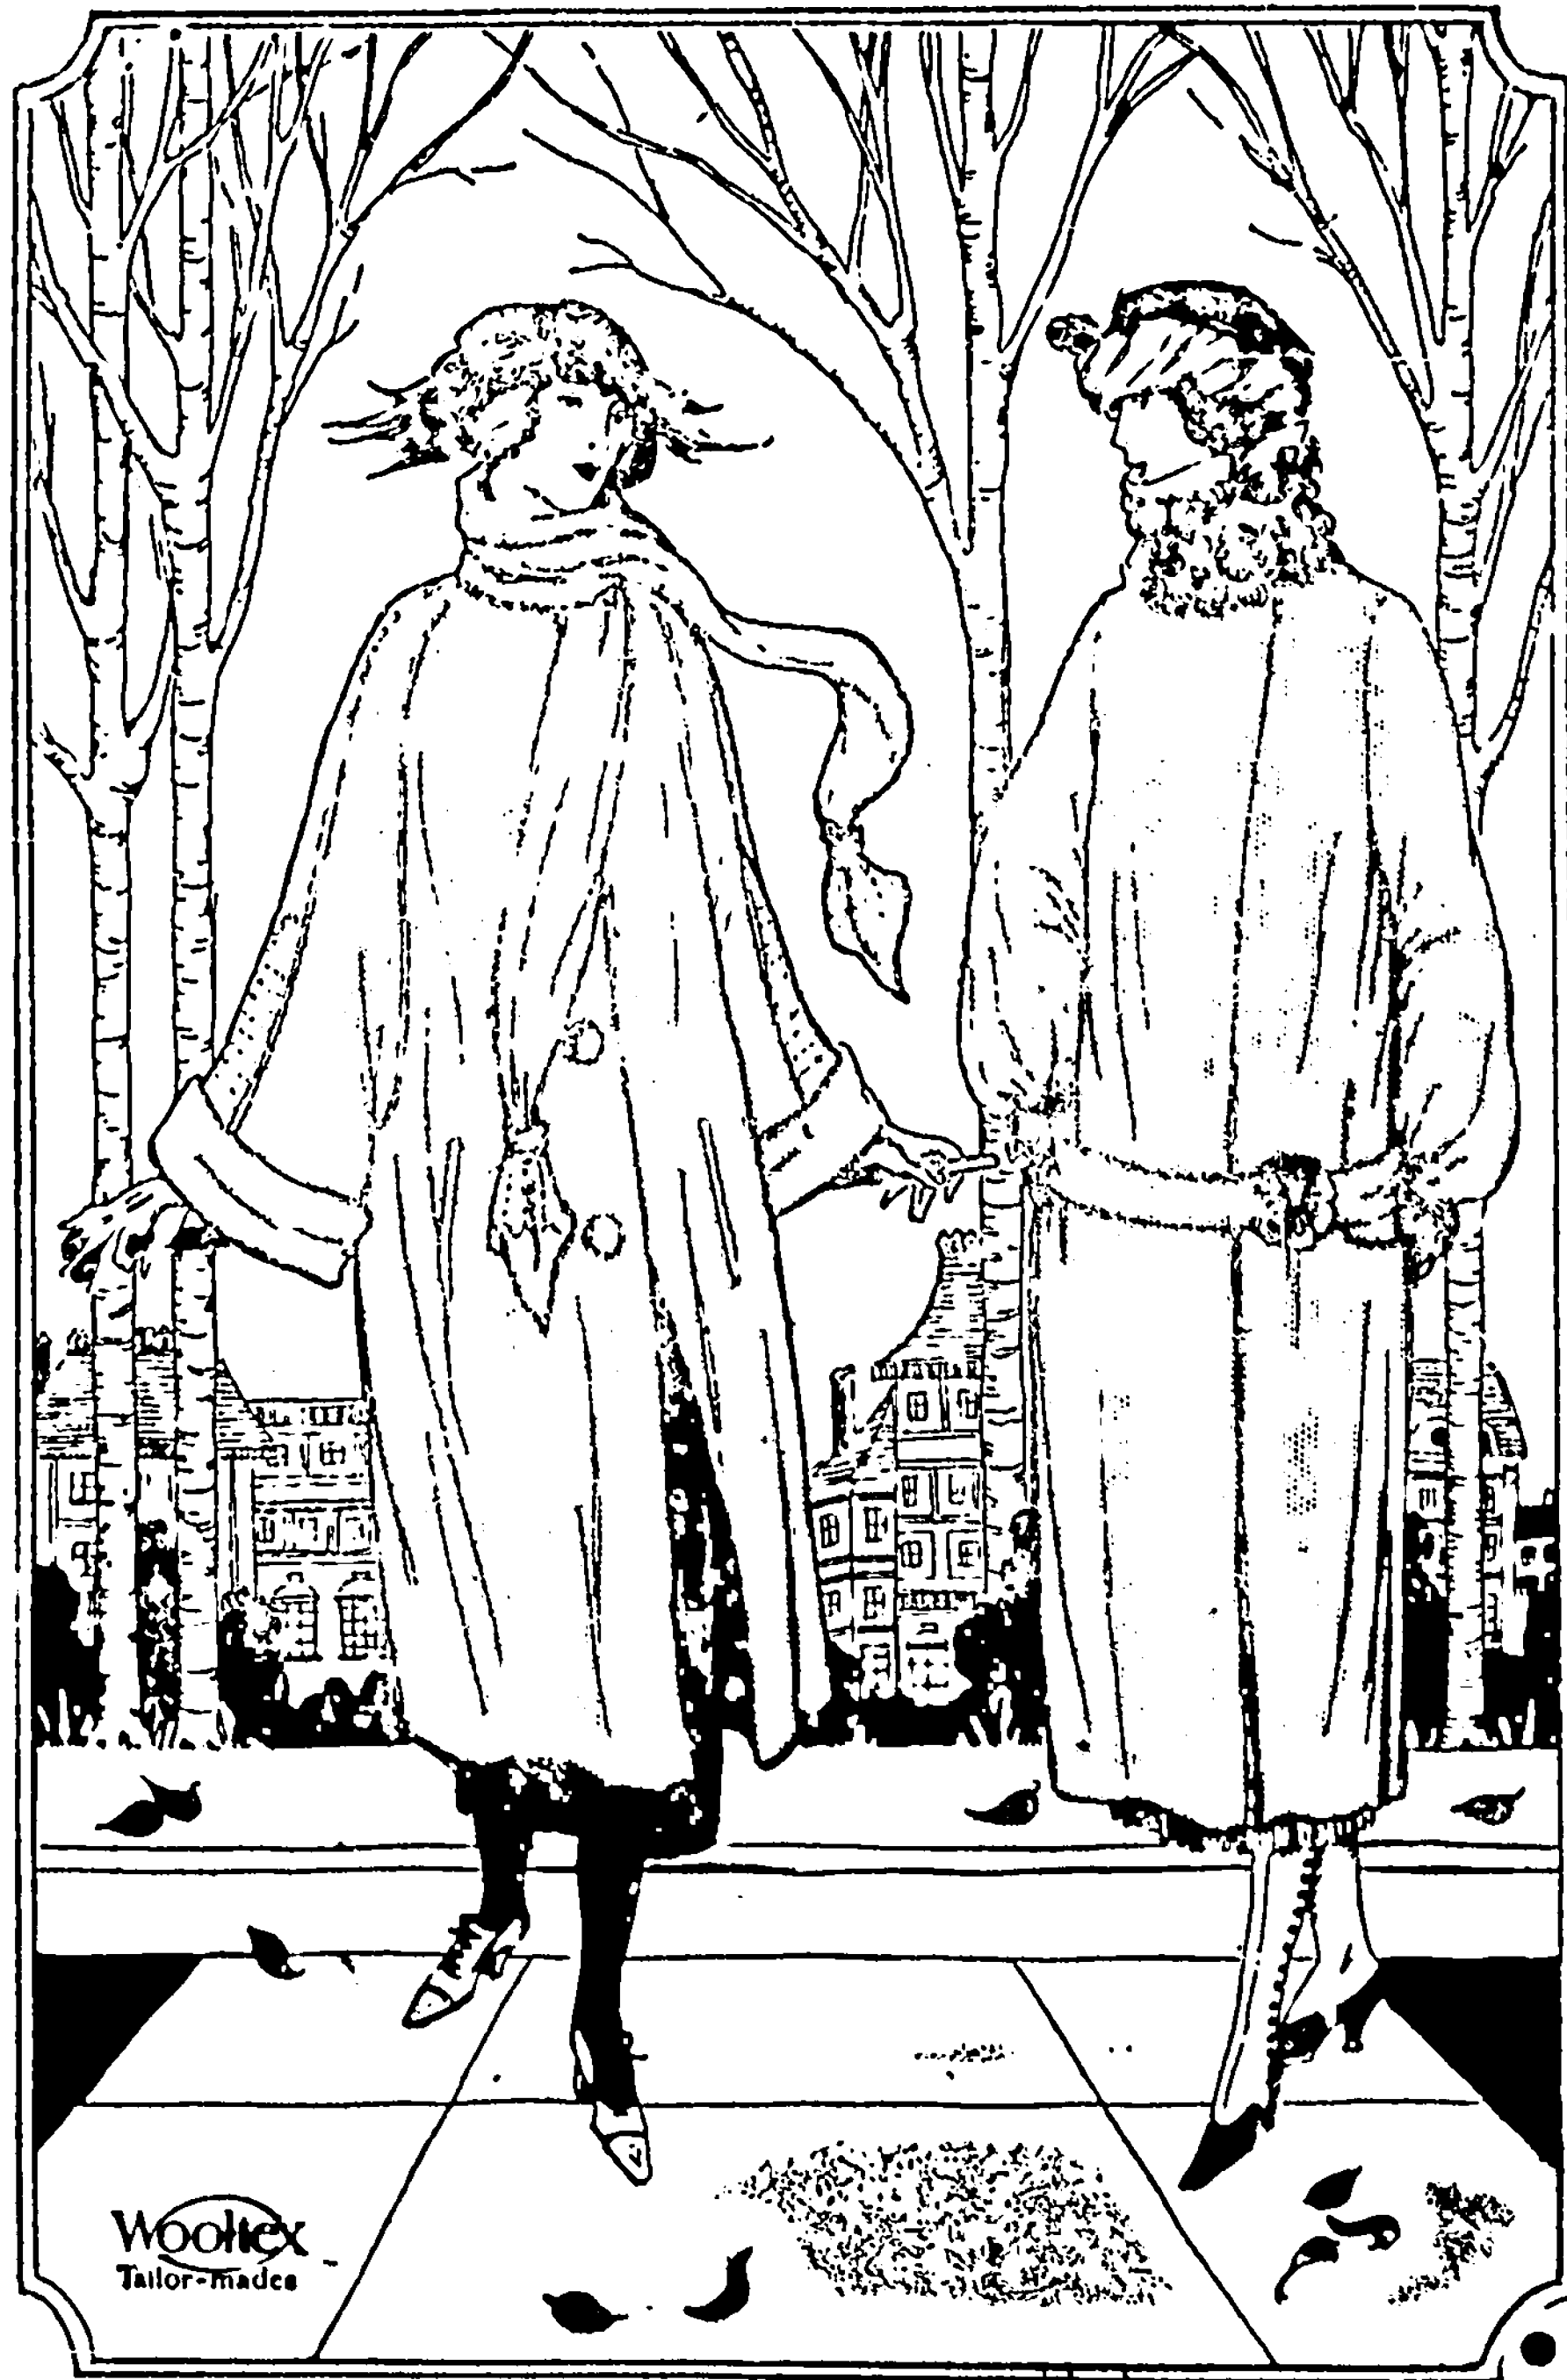

John P. Myers, of Hampton, foreman of the grand jury, presented two true bills to Judge McPherson when court re-convened after the noon recess. These were the only indictments presented for consideration, it was stated by one of the jurors. Both bills, one against Fred Pfeffer and the other against Geo. Weaver, were actions charging statutory offenses and were said to be pending settlement.

After the true bills had been returned, Judge McPherson instructed the grand jurors to make an inspection of conditions at the County Home and at the jail. The jury reported minor recommendations to the court.

How a gate worth about $35 caused a breach in family relations and the disputants made it the subject of court action in a law suit, was related by witnesses called Tuesday in the civil action brought by Mrs. Catherine Pepple against Mrs. Margaret Lochbaum, who lived as neighbors for almost 30 years in Franklin township. Mrs. Pepple, plaintiff in the action, is suing Mrs. Lochbaum, the defendant, for damages which she avows were sustained when Mrs. Lochbaum is alleged to have partially destroyed the wooden gate which is the object in controversy. Mrs. Lochbaum, on the other hand, declares, through her counsel, that the gate obstructed a public road and because it was kept locked and bolted, she was entirely within her rights in removing the obstruction. Judge McPherson, according to law, ordered a verdict in favor of the plaintiff. Damages to the amount of $10 were awarded Mrs. Pepple, Tuesday afternoon, by the jury, of which B. S. Jenkins, Oxford township, was foreman. Mrs. Pepple announced that she intended giving the $10 to the Warner Hospital. Costs of the case, over $100, also were placed upon Mrs. Lochbaum. Motion was filed for a new trial.

Jurors have been drawn to hear the civil suit brought by the firm of Sidney J. Freeman Sons, Philadelphia, against J. M. Shorb, McSherrystown, for alleged commissions in the sale of produce for Mr. Shorb. The case is listed for trial this Thursday morning.

There will be no criminal court at this session of Quarter Sessions, it was said by District Attorney Topper, who indicated that pleas of guilty had been entered by all offenders and that several cases were pending settlement outside of court. Sentence of all offenders will take place Saturday morning.

The new Winter coats will charm you with their beauty of line and fabric

This is one of the seasons when all the styles are a "joy to behold"—coats with big fur collars; luxurious wrappy coats, beautifully embroidered dress coats or more simply tailored models. Most of them follow the straight line silhouette that is so becoming. But endless variety is introduced in the treatment of sleeves and the use of trimmings.

Our coat department is filled with the new fall fashions. You are invited to view them.

But we know that mere style will not satisfy you and so we have secured for you the most beautifully tailored coats obtainable.

Wooltex Tailor-mades

Made out of choice, all-wool fabrics, finished with a care to every detail; guaranteed to give you continued wear.

DRESSES

Poirot twill or some soft "crepey" silk can be your choice in dresses. In woolen materials, dresses are, of course, more simply tailored—but how they dress themselves up in gay embroidery, braiding, beading. The waist lines are still low; sleeves of all varieties. Silk dresses show the new drapes, uneven skirts, side cascades, set in circular panels.

BELTS

Metal girdles, beautifully wrought buckles on cloth belts are all in evidence and add their bit to the gaiety of the season.

FABRICS

Every season coat fabrics grow more and more beautiful. This season presents nearly a score of new ones, such as velvet, ormadale, gero-na, soft and velvety; marino, rubadire, normag-low of the soft Bolivia type.

COLORS

Black and navy have not lost their popularity but many new shades have appeared that are both beautiful and becoming. Browns that shade from the pale fallow through deer, martin, suchard to the deepest zanzibar. Lighter blues, Pretet, Sorrento, Marine and Hawaiian; the copper shades; the reds with their interesting names—Redskin, Genoise, Pom-mard. And these are only a few.

SLEEVES

Are worth noting this season. It seems indeed as if the coats were designed around them—kimona sleeves, pouch sleeves, sleeves of all varieties.

INSTITUTE NEXT WEEK

Arrangements have been completed for the 68th annual institute of public school teachers of Adams county to be held at Gettysburg, beginning Monday, and W. Raymond Shank County Superintendent of Schools announces the program for each day is full of material of vital interest to local pedagogues and more than 225 of them are expected to be in attendance each day. Both the day assemblies and the evening entertainments will be staged at Xavier Hall. Evening entertainments will be given on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings of institute week. Enrollment of all teachers will begin at 9 o'clock Monday morning in the office of the County Superintendent at the Court House and continue until noon. The enrollment fee is $5 and entitles teachers to all privileges of institute, the four issues of the school bulletin, a copy of the song book used during institute week and a year's membership in the Pennsylvania State Educational Association.

According to section 21018 of the State School Code each teacher shall be paid the sum of $4 a day for attending institute, and shall be fined a like amount for non-attendance unless a valid excuse is presented to the County Superintendent. Superintendent Shank has announced that all the day sessions are open to the public. A nominal admission fee is charged for the evening entertainments to help defray the expenses of securing the talent.

Among the features announced for this year's institute are the dividing of the sessions for two days into conferences so that the teachers of the high schools, the grades, and the rural schools will have separate instructions specially adapted to their needs. Another departure from former custom will be the giving of an entire evening to the teachers' own desires, the entertainment course consisting of only three numbers and leaving Wednesday evening open for reunions, banquets, and other social affairs. A further change has been the giving up of a standard lyceum course in the evening, and as one of the attractions the Apollo Glee club, of Lancaster, composed of 40 members, has been secured. A concert company and a lecture by Frank Dixon will be the other two numbers. For the day sessions the following widely known instructors have been secured: Dr. W. A. Matheny, of Ohio University, who will bring with him a large natural science display; Dr. M. S. Pittman, of Ypsilanti, Mich.; Dr. Reid B. Teitrick, Carlisle; Dr. Valentine C. Kirby and Miss Emma Grassnuck, of Harrisburg; and Dr. Ezra Lehman, Shippensburg. The music during the week will be directed by Prof. H. A. Taylor, of Lancaster.

Mrs. Mervin Wintode, formerly of Littlestown, who had been ill in the Lancaster Hospital, has returned to her home in Ephrata, much improved. Mr. Wintode has purchased a agents' furnishing store in Ephrata. They had been located in Terre Hill.

Good Health.—If you would enjoy good health, keep your bowels regular. No one can reasonably hope to feel well, when constipated. When needed, take Chamberlain's Tablets. They are mild and gentle.

Sunday has been set for the laying of the corner stone of the new church edifice of St. Matthew's Lutheran congregation, under course of construction in Hanover.

In Adams county court Saturday, an application will be made for the charter of an intended corporation to be called the "Bendersville Gun Club."

Paul T. Winand, Laughmanstown, will sell personal property at public sale on Saturday.

TRESPASS NOTICE

Notice is hereby given to all persons not to trespass upon the lands of the undersigned for the purpose of hunting game, nut gathering, or any other purpose whatsoever. Persons so offending will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

MRS. HAINES THANKFUL FOR HUSBAND'S DEFEAT
 Mahlon N. Haines, defeated candidate for congress, has come through defeat smiling and happy. He made this statement Wednesday: "I thank every one who voted for me and my wife thanks everybody who voted against me. I lost in the election.
 She won by the voters having decided that I remain at home instead of going to Washington to represent them. I went through the campaign without malice against any one. Today I have matter against no one. I enjoyed my campaign immensely. That fully compensated me for the money
 I spent, every dollar of which was devoted to legitimate purposes only."
 Mr. Haines made one of the most spectacular campaigns for congress ever staged in the York-Adams district. He was lavish in his advertising and resorted to many original publicity stunts. Mr. Haines called at the office of Congressman-elect S. F.
 Glatfelter Wednesday morning and there congratulated the victor.
 Samuel F. Glatfelter, congressman-elect, said: "I appreciate all the voters have done for me. They may depend upon me to give them the safe and sane representation I promised."

Fr. James Spalding, formerly of Littlestown, is rector of the Catholic church at Spangler, where an explosion of "fire damp" was responsible for the death of 83 miners. Following the explosion Father Spalding accompanied the rescuing squads into the mine, going in at 8 o'clock Monday morning and remaining there until 1:30 o'clock Tuesday morning to administer to the men. Forty members of his church were among those who died. Many more miners were at Mass that morning, Father Spalding having started a mission on Sunday, or the death list would no doubt have been greater. Father Spalding is a brother of Misses Regina and Addie
 Spalding, of Littlestown.

How Not to Take Cold.—Some persons are subject to frequent colds, while others seldom, if ever, have a cold. You will find that the latter take good care of themselves. They take a shower or cold sponge bath every day in a warm room, avoid over heated rooms, sleep with a window open or partly open, avoid excesses, over eating, becoming over heated and then chilled and getting the feet wet.
 Then, when they feel the first indication of a cold, they take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy without delay and it is soon over.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Haas, Hanover, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Tuesday a week. Among other gifts they received $50 in gold.
 Mr. and Mrs. Haas lived 24 years in Union township, this county, and for ten of those years he was justice of the peace of the township. He began teaching in 1872 and for a number of years was a school teacher and in 1904 again took up teaching which he followed until spring of 1922 when he retired under the new school code, having reached age of 70 years.

Two black bears were brought back
 Monday from the wilds of Sullivan county by the party of Adams county hunters who spent three days in the "bear" district of the state last week.
 Eddie Pank, Gettysburg, shot the prize bruin on Armistice Day. The animal, which weighs 310 pounds, was bagged five miles back in the woods. It was hauled on a sled by a team of horses for four miles and carried another mile by eight men. Robert Bell, of Gettysburg, brought back a 200-lb.
 bear that he shot last Friday.

Glass of Salts Cleans Kidneys

If your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you, drink lots of water.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salt which helps to remove the body's urinary waste and stimulate them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts: take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus often ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

Ah! Backache Gone Rub Lumbago Away

Rub Pain from back with small trial bottle of old "St. Jacobs Oil."

Ah! Pain is gone!
Quickly?—Yes. Almost instant relief from soreness, stiffness, lameness and pain follows a gentle rubbing with "St. Jacobs Oil."

Rub this soothing, penetrating oil right on your painful back, and like magic, relief comes. "St. Jacobs Oil" is a harmless backache, lumbago and sciatica remedy which never disappoints and doesn't burn the skin.

Straighten up! Quit complaining! Stop those torturous "stitches." In a moment you will forget that you ever had a weak back, because it won't hurt or be stiff or lame. Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" from your druggist now and get this lasting relief.

RED PEPPERS END RHEUMATIC PAINS

When you are suffering with rheumatism so you can hardly get around just try Red Pepper Rub and you will have the quickest relief known.

Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers. Instant relief. Just as soon as you apply Red Pepper Rub you feel the tingling heat. In three minutes it warms the sore spot through and through. Frees the blood circulation, breaks up the congestion—and the old rheumatism torture is gone.

Rowles Red Pepper Rub, made from red peppers, costs little at any drug store. Get a jar at once. Use it for lumbago, neuritis, backache, stiff neck, sore muscles, colds in chest. Almost instant relief awaits you. Be sure to get the genuine, with the name Rowles on each package.

HEAD STUFFED FROM CATARRH OR A COLD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Opens Air Passages Right Up.

Instant relief—no waiting. Your clogged nostrils open right up; the air passages of your head clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, sniffling, blowing, headache, dryness. No struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh disappears.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic, healing cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or swollen mucous membrane and relief comes instantly.

It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed-up with a cold or nasty catarrh.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it dardens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared and after another application, becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.

SULPHUR IS BEST TO CLEAR UP UGLY, BROKEN OUT SKIN

Any breaking out or skin irritation on face, neck or body is overcome quickest by applying Menthosulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, nothing has ever been found to take the place of this sulphur preparation that instantly brings ease from the itching, burning and irritation.

Menthosulphur heals eczema right up, leaving the skin clear and smooth. It seldom fails to relieve the torment or disfigurement. A little jar of Rowles Menthosulphur may be obtained at any drug store. It is used like cold cream.

HANGED AT FREDERICK
While a vast throng clamored outside the walls and beat upon the door for admission to the jail yard, Wm. A. Stultz was hanged at Frederick on Friday morning for the murder of Policeman John H. Adams, who on Aug. 9th attempted to seize Stultz's auto for a debt. Death which ensued 7 minutes after the trap was sprung was due to a broken neck. Stultz maintained an iron nerve to the last and died without any expression of remorse for his crime. As the shroud was placed around him in his cell, he said, "Let go." As he came out of his cell he was confronted by a number of men and women who witnessed the execution. "Ladies and gentlemen," he said, "Good-bye to you all." Mounting the scaffold with firm step, he washed his face and hands in a basin of water he carried to the gallows, declaring this would purge him of all sins. He declared his punishment was unjust. Turning to Sheriff James A. Jones, he said, "They're making a worse murderer of you than I was."

Stultz said he intended making a speech, but upon the advice of his spiritual adviser he had abandoned the thought. A moment later, however, he launched into abuse of local authorities and blamed them for causing his crime. As his last "Good-bye to you all" rang out, Sheriff Jones sprung the trap. Mrs. Adams, widow of the slain policeman, witnessed the execution.

A Timely Suggestion. This is the season of the year when the prudent and careful housewife replenishes her supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed before the winter is over and results are much more prompt and satisfactory when it is kept at hand and given as soon as the first indication of a cold appears and before it has become settled in the system. There is no danger in giving it to children as it contains no opium or other harmful drug.

York and Adams county P. O. S. of A. camps have been urged to send delegations to the public meeting which will be held in Trinity Reformed Chapel, Hanover, tonight, under an auspices of Hanover Camp No. 328, when the Hon. Gabriel Meyer, National President, will be the principal speaker. There will be representatives from at least 40 camps.

Chamberlain's Tablets Have Done Her a World of Good. "Chamberlain's Tablets have done me a world of good," writes Mrs. Ella Button, Kirkville, N. Y. "I have recommended them to a number of my friends and all who have used them praise them highly." When troubled with indigestion or constipation, give them a trial and realize for yourself what an excellent medicine it is.

An attempt on the part of a farm hand to smoke a rabbit from under neat a corn shock caused a loss of $25,000 to Jacob Hoffmans, when every building on his farm, his crops and live stock were burned near Marietta. Sheriff Hartman will sell the 87-acre tract situated in Cumberland township, seized as the property of Belle I. and Walter F. Crushong, at sheriff's sale on Nov. 25th at 2 p. m. at the court house.

Red Cross Sunday was celebrated throughout the county on Sunday.

WOMEN GIVE OUT

Housework is hard enough when healthy. Every woman who is having backache, blue and nervous spells, dizzy headaches and kidney or bladder troubles, should be glad to heed this grateful woman's experience:

SOLDIER COMITS SUICIDE WHEN GIRL REFUSES HIM

Unrequited love of a divorced woman who sought reconciliation with her former husband was declared to be the cause of the suicide of Serg. Jennings Blas, who was a soldier at Gettysburg, Sunday in a crowded downtown lunch room in Washington. Blas, now stationed at Camp Humphreys, Va., shot himself with a 45-calibre revolver when Miss Margaret Bowers, a waitress in the restaurant, for the third time that day refused to marry him, saying she wished to return to her husband, O. E. Beckenrode, of Hagerstown, Md. When the man entered the lunch room he produced his revolver and told the girl he was going to "wind up everything." Miss Bowers fled to the kitchen, and before she could reach Blas he fired the revolver. The bullet passed through his temple. Blas was drunk at the time of the shooting, Miss Bowers charged.

Margaret Bowers told the authorities she came to Washington a year ago from Gettysburg. The waitress accompanied the dying man in the ambulance to the hospital, where she, too, prostrated by his plight, was hospitalized. She was removed later to her room, but news of his death was withheld by friends. According to friends, who told the woman's story given between sobs, she said: "Blas frequently threatened to kill both of us." She admitted her love for her husband.

Men and women from eight counties, including Adams, who are rendering service in children's work in the various communities, will meet in Harrisburg tomorrow for the first Inter-County Conference on Child Care. The Paradise Protective and the Hoffman orphanage will be represented at the meeting, according to reports from Harrisburg.

Sunday, at the home of Harry Lillie, near Abbotstown, a wedding dinner was served in honor of Mr. and Mrs. George Hoffheins and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Reachard. Mrs. Hoffheins before her marriage was Miss Blanche Freed, of Abbotstown, and Mrs. Reachard was Miss Bernice Hoffheins, Menges Mills.

In behalf of the Warner Hospital, Mrs. Martha McKay, superintendent of the institution, Tuesday made public a letter in which she thanks the people of Adams county who contributed foodstuffs and supplies to the hospital for use during the coming winter.

Mrs. Charles Keefer, of Littlestown, underwent an operation for internal trouble in the office of Dr. J. D. Keller, Hanover, on Saturday. Following the operation Mrs. Keefer was taken to her home where she is now improving.

Professor G. A. Stern, of the attendance bureau, State Department of Education, is spending several days in Adams county checking up attendance records in public schools. There are a few instances where attendance has been lax.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Myers, Gettysburg, left Tuesday for St. Petersburg, Fla., where they will spend the winter. Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Lightner, of Gettysburg, have gone to Bartow, Fla., for several months.

John W. Shoemaker, of Germany township, will have public sale on March 14th.

THURSDAY, NOV. 16, 1922

HERE AND THERE

P. Ward Stallam, of Gettysburg, and H. E. Eyster, York, have returned from a two weeks' hunting trip to Aroostic Co., Maine, with a bag of game consisting of a bear, four deer and ten partridges. The trip was made by automobile. Both shot the limit in deer and partridges. The bear was shot by Mr. Eyster, who is a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Winand, of New Oxford.

The holy communion service in the Reformed church in Abbottstown was well attended last Sunday. Ninety per cent. of the members communed. Three members, Mr. and Mrs. C. Grimm and Mrs. Clyde Miller were received and the offering for the apportionment was very liberal. A catechetical class will be organized in the Abbottstown Reformed church on Saturday at 1:30 p. m.

George Bollinger and family Wednesday moved from Bittinger to Spring Grove into the house of L. L. Bittinger.

A cow brot $105 at the sale of Chas. G. Carbaugh held recently at Mt. Pleasant. Mr. Carbaugh has moved to Hanover.

Mrs. Louisa Ditzler, Abbottstown, had a severe attack of nose bleeding Saturday morning. She succeeded in stopping the bleeding after several hours, and except for weakness is all right again.

On Monday a week as Mrs. Seright Nell, Bermudian, was ascending a ladder in the wood house to get some articles from the loft she lost her balance. In trying to prevent herself from falling her left hand caught on a hedge knife, severely cutting the palm of her hand. Dr. E. W. Cashman, York Springs, dressed the wound.

Reynolds Helman, York Springs, raised 625 bushels of potatoes from three acres.

Mrs. Caroline Mehling, of Littlestown, left Friday for Aspinwall to spend the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Earl Rudisill, and family.

The road between Maple Grove chapel and D. S. Auchey's residence is closed owing to the construction of a concrete bridge over the creek. This bridge has been needed for several years.

Grover C. Myers has purchased a flour mill of the latest design which he will have installed at Gardeners Station. Electric motors will furnish the power to run the mill which the owner expects to have in operation before the holidays.

Eugene, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen C. Wagner, Abbottstown, started a fire in an upstairs room of their residence Monday a week, and before it was discovered and extinguished had burned a number of good dresses of Mrs. Wagner and did considerable damage to the woodwork and papering of the room.

The Rev. Park Gardner, pastor of the Hustontown M. E. church, in Fulton county, went out gunning for turkey on Monday a week and bagged a large gobbler. Tuesday morning he and Mrs. Gardner motored over to Sulphur Springs farm near York Springs where that evening the turkey was cooked and served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Gardner. William M. Gardner, of Erie, was also present.

Mr. and Mrs. Benj. J. Sentz, Littlestown, R. D. 2, Sunday observed their golden wedding anniversary. They were married on Nov. 12, 1872, at Littlestown, by the Rev. Dr. Williams. In celebration of the anniversary a dinner was served at their home to their children, other relatives and a number of life-long friends. Mr. and Mrs. Sentz were the recipients of a number of valuable and beautiful gifts, including $67.50 in gold. Mrs. Sentz before marriage was Miss Sarah Feebe and resided in Mt. Joy township. She is now 68 years old. Mr. Sentz spent his early days as a carpenter and later took to farming, which he still follows at the age of 72 years.

Saturday, Armistice Day, the American Red Cross began its annual Roll Call for members at One Dollar, and the call ends Nov. 30. In memory of the magnificent work of the World War it should be a pleasure and privilege to renew membership. The first question one may ask himself or herself is, "What becomes of me?" In helping the disabled ex-service man and his family, in helping the children to be better citizens physically, in encouraging baby clinics and in helping to answer needs as they arise anywhere in the county. And where does the other half of the Red Cross dollar go that is sent to National Headquarters? It is sent to meet disasters and emergency.

Harry Fidler, of York Springs, has rented the small farm of Edw. Weigle, near Heidlersburg.

C. K. Forry, Berwick township, will have public sale on March 29th.

A surprise party was recently tendered Chas. Trostle, of White Church. Charles Brinkerhoff has returned to York Springs after spending the past summer with friends near Gettysburg. Leo Bushman, County Game Warden, Friday gave to the Hoffman Orphanage, near Littlestown, the carcass of a doe that became entangled in the wire fence at Piney Mountain Inn and died.

Numerous thefts of traps set to ensnare fur-bearing animals have been reported from different sections of Adams county and constables and game warden deputies are on the lookout for perpetrators of this form of mischief. Furs are said to be commanding high prices this year and much trapping is being done.

The East Berlin chautauqua guarantors elected Wm. A. Sinner, pres.; Richard Reynolds, secy, and W. Denison Myers, treas. The price of admission for six sessions will be $1.50 for adults and $1 for juniors. A special train will again be run from Abbottstown for the accommodation of chautauqua goers.

Mrs. Ada Sheaffer, of near Mt. Victory church, shot three rabbits on the first day of the hunting season.

While boiling apple butter one day last week the dress of Mrs. Frank Guise, of near York Springs, caught fire and the blaze was only extinguished with difficulty in time to avoid serious results.

Among the hearings scheduled to come before the Public Service Commission in Harrisburg on Friday is the case of Charles A. Plank vs. Ben-ton D. Gilbert, alleging that the respondent is operating automobile buses as a common carrier for the transportation of passengers in Gettysburg and vicinity, without having first obtained a certificate of public conveyance.

Rev. Seth Russell Downie, of Frostburg, Md., formerly of the Hunters-town Presbyterian church, has been elected pastor of the Pine Grove Presbyterian church, in the southern part of York county. It is understood the call will be accepted, due largely to the unsettled conditions at Frostburg, on account of the miners' strike.

Orders have been received by Farm Bureau officials of Adams county for more than 500 steers to be purchased by an agent of the Adams County Cooperative Steer Feeding Assn., of Chicago stock yards, this week.

M. Sheely, of Cashtown, agent for the association, and Paul Hoffman, county farm agent, left for Chicago last evening to purchase the stock which will be brought here to be fattened over the winter months.

"Cancer is on the increase in the United States and the only way the fatalities from the disease can be reduced is by closer co-operation between the victims and physicians," Dr. W. E. Klopp, of Philadelphia, declared while speaking Sunday evening at a meeting in Xavier Hall, Gettysburg, before a fair-sized audience. Dr. Klopp came here as a representative of the American Medical Society and under the auspices of the Adams County Medical Society in connection with the observance of Cancer Week throughout the United States.

Gettysburg's and Hanover's celebration of the end of the World War on Saturday morning was each marked by a dignified and solemn observance, by a dignified and solemn observance.

In the first inter-collegiate football game played in Hanover, Gettysburg college eleven ran rough shot over the Mt. St. Mary's eleven Saturday winning 51 to 6. The crowd present was estimated at 2,500 persons.

At Saturday's meeting, the Bankers' Assn. of Adams County elected the following officers for the coming year: Dr. W. E. Wolff, Anandsville, pres.; I. L. Taylor, Gettysburg, v. pres., and Harry L. Snyder, Gettysburg, treas.

The council of administration named included the following: Edwin C. Tyson, Dr. E. H. Markley and E. M. Bender, Gettysburg; W. R. Jones, Littlestown, and H. S. Reigle, McSherrytown. Thirteen of the 16 banks of the county were represented at meeting.

An automobile having as occupants students of the Univ. of Pittsburgh enroute from Pittsburgh to Philadelphia, where Saturday their football team played the Univ. of Pennsylvania eleven, struck and killed a young buck deer that attempted to run across the Lincoln Highway in front of their car in the South Mountain west of Cashtown, late Thursday night. The students took the carcass of the animal on board with the intention of later having it mounted as a trophy. It is said, but abandoned the animal at a Gettysburg garage when told it would be illegal to keep the deer without reporting to the proper authorities.

Leo Bushman, County Game Warden, gave the deer to the Warner Hospital.

The disappearance from her home in York of Myrna Smith is enshrouded in complete mystery. She is a daughter of W. D. Smith. The girl left home Sunday night to go "down town." Since that time no trace has been found of her. It is possible that she may have gone to Winesboro with a friend, known to the family only as "Sam," as since her disappearance some elderly man, posing as "Sam's" father, called at the house and questioned the mother as to the disappearance of the girl. He did not give his name, but left the impression that he was from Winesboro. It is also possible that she may have gone to Gettysburg to visit a relative without informing the folks at home of her intentions.

Two young girls who on Wednesday escaped from the Maryland Industrial School for Girls located at Reisterstown were found by the York police at the home of Mrs. Bettie Sprengle the married sister of one of them in York, Friday morning. The girls are Rose Zeigler, 18 years old, of Westminster, and Margaret Slade, 20 years old, Taneytown, Md. A third girl, who also went to York, was not located. The trio walked as far as McSherrytown, where they were picked up by a motorist and taken to York. Judge Ross Monday, after hearing testimony in habeas corpus proceedings permitted Margaret Slade to have her freedom under bond of $500 to appear in court at any time within 6 months. Rose Zeigler was taken back to Maryland.

Before Judge McPherson the official count, which began Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock, was concluded at 7:30 the same day. Court House officials said the count had been completed in record time. At the Thursday evening session, Judge McPherson appointed Robert C. Paxton, judge of elections in the 3rd ward of Gettysburg, as return judge for the congressional election. Clinton E. Tawney and T. Marshall Mehling, a former county prothonotary, were deputized to record the votes. The total of 2,349 gives McSparran a majority for a state candidate in this county in many years. Governor-elect Pinchot's official count was 3,191. The county gave only 549 votes for the amendment as against 3,044 in opposition to it. For legislature, Grover C. Myers, Dem., had 4,811 votes to 3,916 for M. E. Knoose.

LACKING IN CONSIDERATION

As long as the grass in a Chicago public park is healthy and green the citizens seem to look upon it as some sort of garden and keep off of it, as the signs command them. When it begins to die out, however, their respect for it instantly vanishes.

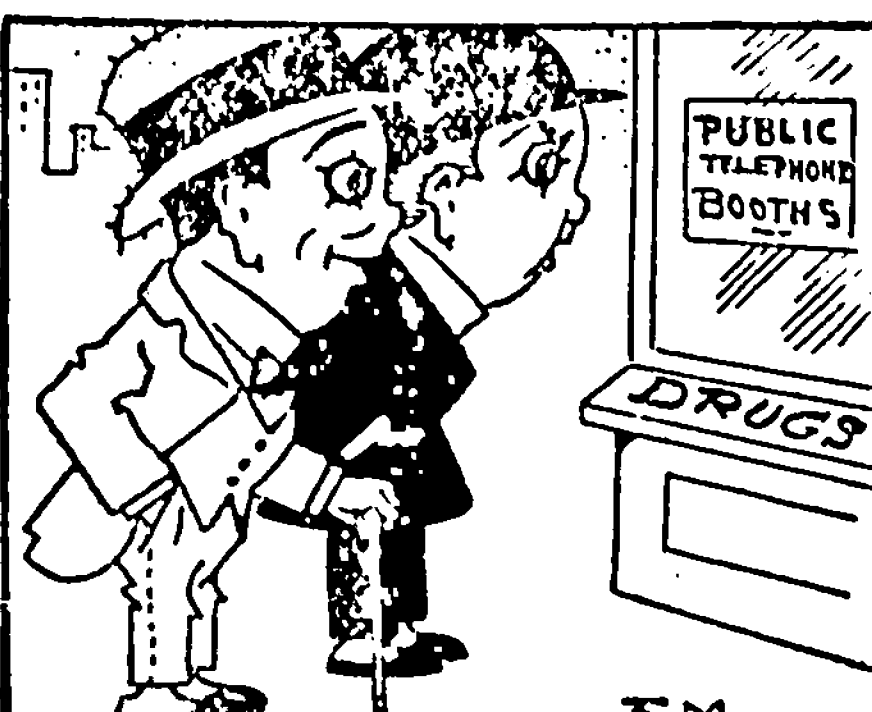

A man in a hurry started one day to cut across a yellow patch in the upper park, but was stopped by a policeman. "What difference does it make?" demanded the citizen. "The grass is half dead already."

"Sure," said the indignant officer, "if ye had a sick friend would ye be walkin' on his stomach?"—Harper's Magazine.

An Ideal Tenant.

Appliment—You advertised for a janitor, sir. I am a married man—no children; neat, honest, patient and tactful.

Landlord—I regret that the place is supplied, my friend—but wait! Couldn't I secure you as a tenant?

Preferred a Pearl.

"The stork has brought a little peach," the nurse said with an air. "I'm mighty glad," the father said, "He didn't bring a pair."

A Reputation to Maintain.

"I notice you have certain pet phrases you put into all your editorials."

"I have to do that in self-defense," replied the editor of the Chiggersville Clarion.

"Why so?" "To refute the base insinuation that they are written by my office boy."

Unskilled Help.

A couple of tourists were gazing at the sculptured front of a certain church, when one of them quoted the remark about art being the handmaid of religion.

"If that is so," returned the other, glancing again at the crudely carved figures, "Religion ought to give her a month's notice."

His Goal Won.

"You have no ambition," complained his young wife.

"Not now," he replied indolently. "You never did have any."

"Oh, yes, I did; but I achieved my ambition when I acquired a rich father-in-law."

Selfish Man.

Bluebeard—You have the freedom of the entire house excepting the closet. This, you must never enter.

His Eighth Wife—Do you mean to keep an entire closet for yourself when I haven't room to hang half my things?

Chance to Observe.

"There's one thing about the new styles."

"What, for instance?"

"I never realized before there were so many good-looking girls in this town."

In Danger.

"Guess I'll have to pen up my goat. He used to loaf around wagons parked in the village square and eat hay."

"Well?"

"But now he's learning to drink gasoline."

A Telling Stroke.

The hare easily caught up with the tortoise. "Well, old man, you're not much of a runner, are you?" he sneered.

"No," admitted the tortoise. "I'm not, I think I'll try for the crew. You see, I'm quite at home in the shell."

As It Were.

"And you and your wife get into arguments, of course, about things?"

"Well, I can't say we argue, but she does a red-hot monologue."

A Flip Flapper.

"What's your favorite hymn?" one of those inquiring reporters asked a flapper the other day.

"I've got three or four," she answered promptly, "but I think I like Harry the best."

Out of Date.

Aunt Lucy—If you keep such late hours you'll ruin your pretty, natural complexion.

Philippa—They're not wearing natural complexions now; they're all covered up.

A Few Little Smiles

SOMETHING TO QUARREL OVER

"What was that long-distance telephone message?"

"A fellow in a neighboring town was kicking about the length of our radio waves," said the head of a broadcasting station. "He claimed they kept him from 'listening in' on a concert up in Pittsburgh."

"What did you tell him?"

"I asked him if he thought he owned the air."

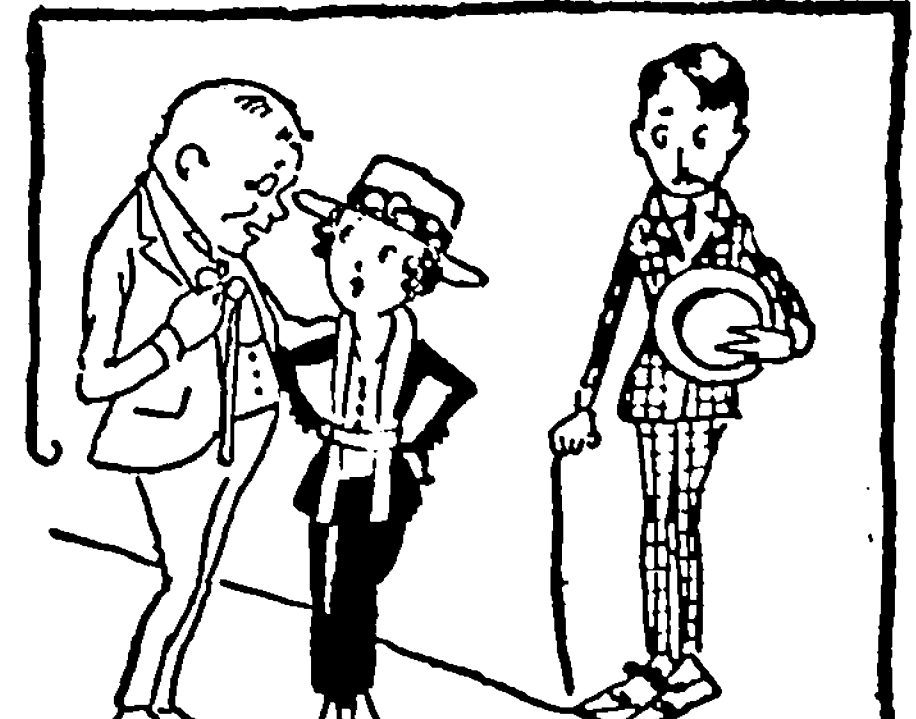

Hence the Lawyers.

"In the divorce court already?"

"Yes."

"I thought they said they were made for each other."

"Matrimony is like buying a bungalow. You never know how many alterations will be needed until after you move in."

In Jungletown.

Said Miss Giffate, "I wear, you see my wrist-watch 'round my neck; I do it by request, because the town clock is a wreck."

Wise Woman.

"There's one thing I don't like about Mr. Grubbin."

"What?"

"He doesn't give his wife any credit for his success."

"He couldn't very well do that. She didn't marry him until he was in a position to give her the luxuries to which she had been accustomed."

Piazza Persiflage.

"Last Tuesday evening," writes Miss K. M., "we were sitting on the piazza when mother remarked: 'I wonder why the mosquitoes are so bad to-night.'"

"I guess you've forgotten, ma," said my brother who is full of fun. "It's the first of the month, and every one presents their bills, you know."

Reason to Be Thankful.

Blondine—Did you go to the circus?

Brunetta—Yes, and I am certainly glad of it.

Blondine—Why?

Brunetta—Because ever since I saw the hippopotamus I have been more satisfied with my shape.

Nothing to Hinder.

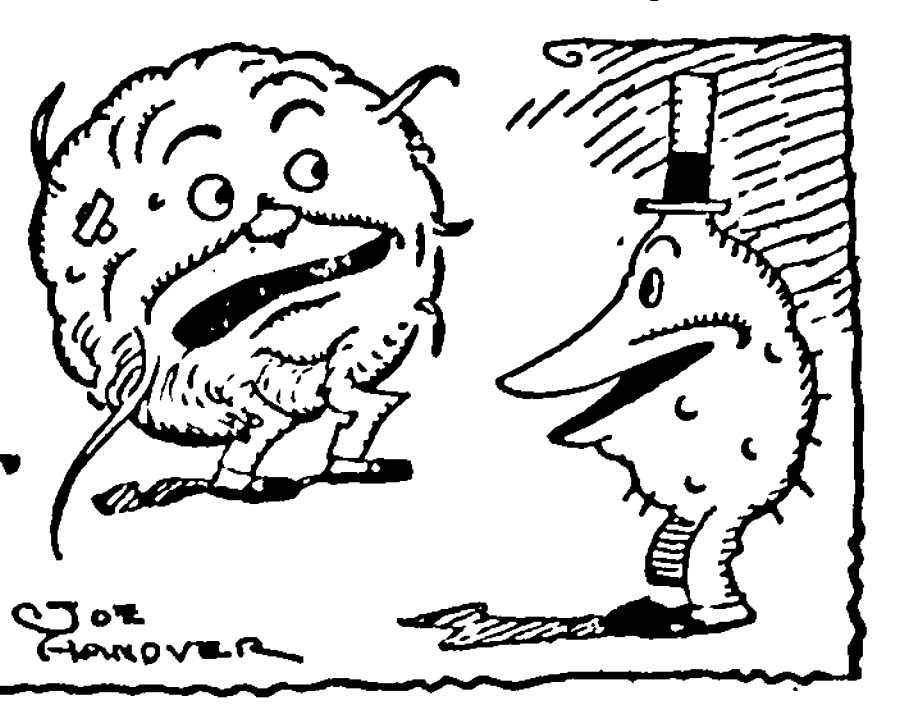

He—I cannot go to the theater so often—I must think about my bills.

She—Well—can't you think about your bills in the theater?

Handicapped.

"So Bill married that plump little girl who used to giggle so much."

"Yes, Bill evidently believes in a short wife and a merry one."

Then It Happened.

A stranger dared to referee a prairie football game.

Although he may recover, he will never look the same.

Thought He Was It.

Mrs. Hoyle—I wonder if that conductor kept my fare.

Mr. Doyle—Very likely; I have heard that the road was in the hands of a receiver.

Disadvantage of Delay.

"Didn't you get any letters at all?" asked Jamie's mother when he returned from the postoffice.

"No, mamma," he replied soberly.

"Next time you'll have to send me earlier, 'cause when I got there they was all gone."

Well, Where?

Mabel (reading)—"Full many a flower is born to blush unseen."

James—It surely doesn't mean society buds. Where in the world could they blush without being seen?

LOST IN JUNGLE; ALMOST STARVED

Explorer Lives on Monkeys and Snakes in the Wilds of Brazil.

New York—Lost 25 days in a Brazilian jungle, Ernest C. Holt, explorer, lived on meat cut from poisonous snakes and monkeys. He told of this adventure when he returned from South America with his wife on the Pan America. He had been away three years and he collected hundred specimens for the American Museum of Natural History.

On one of his exploring trips Mr. Holt and a companion got lost in the jungle and ran out of food.

"We lived mostly on monkeys during the 25 days," he said, "but on one occasion we had to resort to eating snake stew or face starvation. We ate the stew. We had killed a poisonous snake about nine feet long, cut off its head, took out the sirloin and stewed it. It tasted something like eel. Not so good, you know, but then anything tastes good when you're real hungry."

Wooing in the Dark

By JESSIE DOUGLAS

(© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Molly began to sing to herself. Across the fields she could hear the tree-toads strumming their guitars, and a little chorus of sleepy birds made her laugh with delight.

It was pure delight. Meadow-sweet in the air and the whisper of grass under her feet and a pull on her arm that was to bring back fresh butter. She gave a sudden start.

"I can't do it!" It was almost dark now, but she could see the foot bridge across which she must step to reach the other river bank. There wasn't even a hand-rail. But how could she go back and face Mrs. Bascom and admit that she was just one of "those silly city girls" who was afraid to cross the bridge?

"If there were only some other way to cross," Molly said aloud.

"There isn't." The voice sounded out of the darkness so close at hand that Molly jumped.

"If you wish," the voice went on, "I'll see that you get across."

"Oh, I do," Molly said breathlessly. He stepped out ahead of her and she saw by the stars that he was tall and straight, and as he gave her his hand she knew by its pressure that he was strong. She scarcely breathed until she reached the other side.

"Thank you," she sighed. He walked a little distance apart from her and she saw that he was looking down at her. She was grateful that he could only see the faint blur of her figure in the dusk.

"You have to go back again, I suppose," the voice went on, "and if you'll let me, I'll see that you get back safely. I'm Jim Stevens over at the Hales'."

It was pleasant talking to a man like this by starlight. Molly forgot all her self-consciousness. She was just like any other girl talking to a young man under a slip of a July moon, just as young, just as charming, just as—pretty.

"If you'll wait here I'll go in and get the butter," she told him as the farmhouse loomed up. She was grateful that the porch was in darkness, and that when she passed into the lighted kitchen the door closed after her.

He was waiting for her when she came out and she felt her heart beat with a new sense of happiness.

It was the first time a young man ever had waited for her outside a gate; it was the first time she had ever talked serenely unconscious of herself to any man. She drank in all the joy of the moment as they sauntered "home" to Mrs. Bascom's.

"May I see you again?" Jim Stevens asked her as they came to the white farmhouse. Molly caught her breath. She knew what it would mean if he saw her again.

"But perhaps we—you—might be disappointed next time!" she tried to say lightly.

"Disappointed?" he asked. "I know when I first heard your voice you were pretty? How disappointed?"

She couldn't answer him. He said suddenly: "If it's introductions you're thinking about I'll ask Mr. Haley to come over to Mrs. Bascom's and bring me along and introduce me tomorrow afternoon—"

"Oh, no!" Molly gasped. "But I might meet you tomorrow night down by the bridge." Then she ran into the house.

The first thing she did was to climb breathlessly the steep stairs to her own room, then she lighted the kerosene lamp, and, taking care to pull down the shade, she went over to the crinkly mirror and studied herself. No, she was just the same. Her hair was not gold and curly, it was mouse-colored and very straight. She had nothing in the way of a Greek profile, but an apology of a nose, and her eyes were not large and lustrous, but gray and sweet and unnoticeable altogether. It was not that that troubled her so much, but across one temple was a mark, a delicate blue mark that time would never erase and that her hair would never quite cover.

It was this that made her self-conscious, wretchedly sure that girls were pitying her and men turning away from the sight with disgust. It was this that made her promise to meet Jim Stevens after dusk.

Just once she told herself she should have all the joy of talking to a man and pre-arranging she was pretty. She could pretend.

Next evening she met Jim Stevens down by the bridge. She wore a white dress with some airy ruffles that made her seem some delicate moth as she fluttered down to him. She lifted her face bravely, sure that that tell-tale scar was hidden. They talked and laughed and came singing back along the road to the Bascom's and Jim carried her promise that she would meet him the next night.

"But why this Cinderella business?" he asked her. "I do believe there's something mysterious about you; you won't go canoeing with me, you won't go picnicking with me—have I done something?" Is it still that lack of proper introduction?

He was still so sure of this feeling of hers about an introduction that he dragged Mrs. Haley over to call on Mrs. Bascom next afternoon, but Molly, hiding in her closet, refused to bear the calls for her. She waited to come out until she heard the retreating footsteps of the callers.

It was not until she had known him about two weeks that Jim began to tell her about himself. She heard with a new terror clutching at her heart that he was a poster artist.

Molly had almost steeled herself to meeting him in daylight, but this decided her. Her summer idyl should end as it had begun, romantically, charmingly, in darkness.

The night before she was going home Jim kissed her. She knew she would never forget that kiss as long as she lived, and she knew his voice with that infection would always haunt her. "Lovely little Molly."

It was the end. He had not said he loved her. But it would always be sweet to remember that his voice had been tender and he had thought her lovely.

Next morning she was going back to the city where she worked and lived in the big institution that housed working girls who did not earn over $1,200 a year. She was going back to work and heartache and longing, but always she would have something to remember.

She waved good-by to Mrs. Bascom and saw her train come in and then a young man stepped on the platform and said: "I'm going too, Molly."

Molly stared at Jim Stevens with fear in her eyes and the shamed blood coloring her cheeks. He continued to look down at her endearingly. Ruthlessly she pushed back the hair from the blue-purple scar across her temple and faced him ready for the stab.

He was either blind or oblivious to this thing that had haunted her girlhood.

"You couldn't run away from me like that, Molly," he said. "We're going back together!"

She continued to stare at him unbelievably until he swept her up the steps of the train.

"But don't you see—" she asked. "I do see that when you're Mrs. James Stevens I'll have to take proper care of you."

So Molly awoke to the knowledge that love sees with an inner eye and sees only the things that are lovely.

HAVE NATURAL DREAD OF FIRE

Miners Realize There Is Little Chance of Escape When Their Worst Enemy Appears.

Nothing is so much dreaded by the miner as fire, says a writer in Adventure magazine. When millions of tons of rock begin to settle down he is not frightened. He goes among them when they are being splintered in all directions and are cracking like pistols.

One reason why a fire in a mine is so much dreaded is because there are so few avenues of escape open to the miners. Probably there is but a single shaft—if the mine is connected with no other—and up this, a thousand or fifteen hundred feet, or more, he must go to escape.

In case of a fire there is liable to be a panic. A panic in a church or other building on the surface is a terrible thing; then what must be a panic in a mine where there are 800 or 1,000 men, perhaps, all to go up a single shaft a thousand feet or more, a cage-load at a time? At such times, too, there are explosions of gases which extinguish all of the lights, and the men rushing to and fro are exposed to danger of pitfalls in the shape of chutes, winzes and other excavations.

All these things being often in the miner's mind give him a wonderful delicacy of nostril. He can scent a fire from afar. He knows the smell of burning fuse, of giant powder, of black powder and of everything with which fire ordinarily comes in contact in a mine, and the scent of these is no more noticed than is noticed the air he breathes on the surface of the earth; but let any unusual substance be ignited and, like the hunted stag, his nose is in the air at once.

Suns Squeeze Themselves. The sun is a great globe, 886,000 miles in diameter; beside it the earth is the merest speck. All the planets combined would hardly do more than ripple the solar surface if they should plunge into it.

The sun shines by its own heat, though not by fire, for fire implies combustion. On the sun elements are far too hot for anything approaching chemical union as we know it to take place. Neither is solar heat generated by friction or contraction.

The sun has not varied its output of energy greatly for many millions of years. Its energy is molecular. Deep in its center there are complex, radio active elements. When the solar system was in the shape of a nebula it absorbed prodigious quantities of light and heat. This energy was stored in the atoms. Now that the sun is condensed into a sphere, it is giving this energy out again, and we feel it as warmth.

Greeley Had Learned Wisdom. When, after the death of Virginia, there was talk of Poe marrying again, Horace Greeley wrote to a friend:

"Do you know Sarah Helen Whitman? Of course you have heard it rumored that she is to marry Poe. Well, she seemed to me a good girl, and you know what Poe is. Now, I know a widow of doubtful age will marry almost any sort of a white man, but this seems to me a terrible confutation. Has Mrs. Whitman no friend within your knowledge that can faithfully explain Poe to her?"

"I never attempted this sort of thing but once, and the net result was two enemies and a hastening of the marriage."—From "Poe the Man" in the Mentor.

CHANGES IN HATS

Headgear Is Wider and Broader for Fall and Winter.

No Longer Crushes Into Shape—Built Upon Frames That Stand Away From the Head.

The first demand of every woman for the new season's fashion is that her hats shall be in fine trim—that she shall adorn her head according to the latest dictates of style. Her dresses may pass—she can at least wear a suit—but an oldish hat is something too damning for words, observes a fashion critic in the New York Times.

Now the hats of the present season have changed just as much as the frocks. They are wider and broader. They no longer crush into shape, but are built upon frames that stand away from the head and create a formality of line entirely new.

From Paris comes the news that the tricorne will be more popular than ever. But it is a very much elaborated tricorne. It is larger than it has been for some time. It spreads out on three sides with the abandon that only a hat of French origin can show.

As for the felt hats, they are no more numerous than the straw hats were in the summer. There are silk and satin hats and duvetyne hats and velvet hats, but felt hats, those real exponents of the winter mode, are much in the minority. However, they are smarter this season than they ever have been before. On the streets, in the places where smart women gather, you will find the felt hats usurping the center of their stage. They are blocked into interesting shapes, usually with puffed and draped crowns, and they are made with narrow brims, sometimes wider at the sides, that droop over the faces and give a mushroom effect to the general contour of the hat. The trimming is very sparsely done.

Girl's Coat. Ideal for the boarding school or college girl is a fur coat made of gray krimmer, with collar, pockets and cuffs bound with black leather.

Flat Crepe Is New Fabric. Name, Beautiful Silk of Compact Texture and Fine Quality—Offered in All Shades.

With the establishment of a new silhouette it is only natural that a new fabric should also gain favor, for in the expression of a decided vogue an adaptable material is always of paramount importance. That flat crepe is the material of the moment is more than hearsay, and its popularity a recognized fact.

None, a new flat crepe, is a beautiful silk of a compact texture and fine quality. It has the sort almost noncrushable characteristic that distinguishes materials that are all pure silk and that is such a decided asset in a fabric of its weight. The absolute perfection necessary in the weaving of a flat crepe gives None the quality appeal desired in dresses of the better sort.

The vogue for this flat silk is based on many apparent reasons. In the development of the circular and draped silhouette the grace and folds of the design are most appreciated in a fabric that catches the light on its many surfaces. A frosted sheen that is a feature of this fabric enhances in its very nature the flowing lines of today's gowns. None is offered in all the radiant shades to be featured in formal gowns this autumn and is exceptionally handsome in navy blue and black.

Brilliant Buttonry. Buttons of wood, brilliantly hand-painted, lend the needed touch of color to some of the new frocks, wraps and blouses. Originality finds expression

A NEW LONG WALKING DRESS

Here is one of the new walking dresses exhibited at a recent fashion show held in Chicago. It is in gray woolen fabric, trimmed in Japanese print, and shows the long skirt effect of the modes of 1922, including walking garments.

EARRINGS VOGUE IN PARIS

Long Crystal Drops Particularly Favored—Pearl Tassels, Antique Designs, Onyx Used.

Earrings are decidedly in vogue in Paris. The long crystal drops are particularly favored, more so than rings or hoops.

There is a clever trick among French women of wearing one earring—a long one—dangling down over the shoulder, and the other ear without any decoration.

Pearl tassels are favorite earrings. Of course, the idea is to have earrings for each costume, and sometimes women have more than one pair for a favorite frock. These harmonize in color and design with both the frocks with which they are to be used.

There is a vogue for wearing earrings containing little portraits in miniature—of anybody one wishes, of course.

With the present vogue for white, jade earrings of this lovely stone are of course in high favor.

Old earrings of gold and silver are in demand and ancestral jewel cases as well as antique shops are being called on for them.

There are some earrings made of onyx, set with pearls, that are tremendously effective.

And with the revival of coral, anything of coral may be worn in the way of earrings.

Tight-Fitting Sleeves. In contradistinction to the wide, flowing sleeve effects that are current now, the dresses of newest conception from abroad adopt the simple, tight-fitting sleeves of the tailor-made type of garment. This handling was noted in cloth tailored dresses, and again in soft silk and velvet modes.

Autumn Colors. Brown and navy are among the most favored colors for street costumes. Evening dresses show the tendency toward shades of yellow, rose and sapphire and feature a low-cut neckline, much draping and no sleeves.

In accessories of attire this season, as never before. Nothing too startling, nothing too undreamed of; provided always that its use is as unwarranted and as unrestrained in a way as the idea is unique.

Flowing Veils Adds to Hat. They Tend to Bring Otherwise Plain Headgear Into Harmony With Modern Gown.

Veils are good just now, especially when long and flowing, notes a fashion correspondent in the New York Times. They bring an otherwise plain hat into harmony with all the draping and fluffiness of the modern gown, and add that touch of picturesqueness which is so essential if the hat is to carry out the newer, sweeping lines established by the recently created models.

The vogue for lace has reached the veil to stay, for a veil these days is of little or no worth if it does not show a lace pattern as it stretches over the face and sweeps over the shoulders. Some women prefer to wear their veils rather short, with only the suggestion of a lace fringe over the eyes, and others to have yards and more yards to theirs so that they can wrap the filmy lengths about their shoulders and still have ample ends to trail carelessly in stray breezes.

Metal Cloth. Metal cloth wraps are brilliant indications of a glittering year. They come in bright gold or bright silver, with luxurious fur collars and gorgeous linings. Often a bit of embroidery or brocade is added.

It is faith that bridges the land of breath To the realms of the souls departed. That comforts the living in days of death And strengthens the heavy-hearted. It is faith in his dreams that keeps a man Face front to the odds about him, And he shall conquer who thinks he can. In spite of the throngs who doubt him. —Edgar Guest.

WHAT TO EAT

Let us eat more nuts. When properly masticated they are the finest of food.

Fruit Salad With Nuts. —Take a slice of pineapple for each serving, place on each a small ball of seasoned cottage cheese, or cream cheese may be used. Sprinkle with finely minced walnut meats and serve with a spoonful of rich mayonnaise.

Another is prepared with a slice of pineapple cut into cubes; add twelve dates and one orange, one sliced banana and salad dressing. Cube the pineapple, dates and orange, add these to one-half cupful of walnut meats and the banana. Garnish with maraschino cherries. Mix well, adding enough good salad dressing to moisten. Serve in lettuce cups.

Spiced Walnuts. —Take two cupfuls of walnut meats, one cupful of sugar, one-fourth of a cupful of water, three-fourths of a teaspoonful of cinnamon. Mix the sugar and water and boil until it hardens in water. Take from the fire, stir in the cinnamon and add the walnuts. Stir until the nuts are thoroughly coated with the syrup. Spread on a platter to cool.

Sponge Cake With Cream Filling. —Beat the yolks of six eggs until thick and light-colored. Gradually beat in one cupful of sugar and add one-half cupful of boiling water. Flavor with a teaspoonful of lemon extract and gradually beat in one and one-half cupfuls of pastry flour sifted with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Bake in two layers, put together with cream filling and lead with caramel icing.

Cream Filling. —Mix together seven-eighths of a cupful of sugar with one-third of a cupful of flour, one-eighth of a teaspoonful of salt. Beat the two eggs and stir into the mixture, and two cupfuls of scalded milk to the flour and sugar, stirring constantly until cooked and thick. Add a tablespoonful of butter, cool and flavor with vanilla.

Elderberry Pie. —Remove the ripe fruit from the stems, fill a pastry-lined shell with the berries, add a little sugar, one tablespoonful of vinegar and two of flour. Cover with strips of pastry or cover as desired and bake in a slow oven.

Old-fashioned flowers! I love them all! The morning glories on the wall, The pansies in their patch of shade, The violets stolen from the glade, The bleeding hearts and columbine Have long been garden friends of mine; But memory every summer floods About a clump of hollyhocks. —Edgar Guest.

DELICIOUS DRINKS

A delicious drink may be made by combining grape juice with ginger ale. The two flavors blend well, and one gives zest to the other.

Grape Juice and Ginger Ale Jelly. —Heat a pint of grape juice with two tablespoonfuls of sugar. When hot, pour over two tablespoonfuls of granulated gelatin which has been soaked in a little water. Add one pint of ginger ale. Cool, let stand on ice until ready to serve.

Coffee Marshmallow Cream. —Soak two tablespoonfuls of gelatin in two tablespoonfuls of cold water until soft. Add two cupfuls of strong boiling hot coffee and stir until the gelatin is dissolved. Add one-fourth cupful of sugar, one cupful of condensed milk, one-half teaspoonful of vanilla and one-quarter of a cupful of marshmallows, added just before chilling.

Fruit Jelly. —Pour two cupfuls of boiling water over one-half cupful of sugar, and when dissolved add two tablespoonfuls of gelatin soaked in two tablespoonfuls of cold water, then add one cupful of pineapple juice, three tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, and when the mixture begins to thicken add one and one-third cupfuls of pineapple cut in cubes. Stir in a mold in cold water and turn in the mixture.

Milk Jelly. —Soak one and one-half tablespoonfuls of gelatin in one-half cupful of water. Cook two cupfuls of milk with four tablespoonfuls of sugar and the grated rind of a lemon over a slow fire. Add the soaked gelatin and stir until dissolved. Let stand until the milk is well flavored, then strain into a wet mold. Serve with cream and sugar.

Whey punch has a delicious flavor and is very refreshing. Take one cupful of whey and one and one-quarter cupfuls of sugar and boil together for five minutes. Cool and add one quart of whey, the juice of two lemons and one cupful of shredded pineapple.

FREEDOM FROM LAXATIVES

Discovery by Scientists Has Replaced Them.

Pills and salts give temporary relief from constipation only at the expense of permanent injury, says an eminent medical authority. Science has found a newer, better way—a means as simple as Nature itself.

In perfect health a natural lubricant keeps the food waste soft and moving. But when constipation exists this natural lubricant is not sufficient. Medical authorities have found that a gentle lubricating action of Nujol not only resembles that of Nature's own lubricant. As Nujol is not a laxative it cannot gripe. It is in no sense a medicine. And like pure water it is harmless and pleasant.

Nujol is prescribed by physicians; used in leading hospitals. Get a bottle from your druggist today.—Advertisement.

Hospital Transported Pick-a-Back. Dr. A. L. Piper, who for five years has conducted a grass hut hospital among the Alunda tribes of Africa, recently bought a large stock of medicines, test tubes and laboratory equipment in America. These must be conveyed on the backs of natives for 17 days, under a scorching sun, before reaching their destination.—Scientific American.

SHE DYED A SWEATER, SKIRT AND CHILD'S COAT WITH "DIAMOND DYES"

Each package of "Diamond Dyes" contains directions so simple any woman can dye or tint her worn, shabby dresses, skirts, waists, coats, stockings, sweaters, coverings, draperies, hangings, everything, even if she has never dyed before. Buy "Diamond Dyes"—no other kind—on perfect home dyeing is sure because "Diamond Dyes" are guaranteed not to stain, fade, streak, or run. Operatic as Ever. "Here's a late picture of my aunt—she's a former prima donna." "Well, isn't she still? She looks large enough."

Why buy many bottles of other Vermifuges, when one bottle of Dr. Peery's "Lead Shot" will act surely and promptly? It costs only 50 cents and if it fails we refund your money. 372 Pearl St., New York City.—Advertisement.

Always Hopeful. "I tell you there is no oil here." "Well, if we don't strike oil maybe we'll strike ore."

Miss Florence Mossberger.

Newark, N. J.—"There is probably no anxiety greater for a mother than when her daughter is developing into womanhood in a weak and ailing condition. My daughter was in such a state of body and mind that it was necessary for me to take her out of school. I had tried many remedies without apparent improvement until I heard of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and Golden Medical Discovery. After using three bottles each of these medicines, my daughter regained full strength and health. I would like to add, Doctor Pierce's Remedies do all that they are advertised to do, and I can recommend them to all mothers of delicate and ailing daughters."—Mrs. Florence Mossberger, 855 Summer Avenue.

MAN ELECTROCUTED

Edw. Walton, 30 years old, of Mechanicsburg, an employee of the Cumberland Valley Electric company, was electrocuted Thursday at noon, when he came in contact with a live wire carrying 13,000 volts. With Lloyd Altland, of Dillsburg, district manager of the company, Walton was engaged in some work on the line at the rear of the York Springs hotel. Walton climbed the pole, while Altland remained at the bottom.

The victim had no more than reached the top of the pole, when he called to Altland: "I am hit." The latter saw the body of his co-worker pitch forward and fall on the wire. With the aid of J. Jacobs, of York Springs, son of the proprietor of the hotel, Altland brot the body to the ground. An ambulance and physicians from Harrisburg were rushed to the scene, but their services were not required. The deceased is survived by his parents and wife. Dr. C. G. Crist, coroner of Adams county, after an investigation decided death was purely accidental.

MAN TAKES POISON

Gerald Keefe, of McSherrystown, was taken to the Warner hospital, Gettysburg, Saturday, suffering from a dose of poison taken Saturday night. A report being circulated in McSherrystown is to the effect that the young man, who had been separated from his wife, Ruth Keefe, Hanover, was visited by her Saturday evening and that together they took a stroll towards Conowingo chapel. It was declared that while with her he took the poison. This report is then to the effect that he went to his home, where Dr. Rice was summoned and that the physician probably saved his life by first methods after which he was rushed to the hospital. It is said that he is expected to recover.

Also there is thought to be some improvement in his condition, the would-be suicide is not out of danger. It is said that it may take as long as ten days to throw off the effects of the poison.

OVERCOME BY GAS

Mr. and Mrs. Levi H. Eckert, a venerable Hanover couple, were found unconscious from the effects of inhaling illuminating gas in their bedroom yesterday afternoon, having been overcome during the night and unable to summon help. They were found straggled in bed, when an entrance was forced into the house, by Paul Koehler, a butcher, who is a business friend of Mr. Eckert. When he was unable to get a response from anyone in the house, and upon learning from neighbors that neither Mr. nor Mrs. Eckert was seen about the house yesterday morning, he was convinced that something was wrong. Upon examination, a gas jet in the room was found to be partly open. The supposition is that Mr. Eckert upon retiring failed to close the jet tightly. Mr. Eckert, who is about 76 years of age, is a retired cattle dealer. Mrs. Eckert is also in the seventies. They have one son Paul Y. Eckert, Ocean Grove, N. J., who was at once notified.

Lester Sachs and family, of Petersburg, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emory Sachs, White Run.

STRUCK BY AUTO

Henry Bollinger, of near Greenmount, was taken in a critical condition to the Warner Hospital as the result of having been struck by an automobile while returning home from work Saturday afternoon. A preliminary examination disclosed that he sustained a fracture at the base of the skull and possible internal injuries. Bollinger was employed as a laborer at the farm of William Paul, Greenmount. He was near his home, when it is reported the machine driven by J. M. Creeger, of Thurmont, struck him. Bollinger, who is about 60 years old, it is said, was walking along the left side of the road and started across to talk with Charles Reiger. Bollinger, it is said, failed to look behind him and was unaware of the approach of the automobile. He was thrown to the concrete roadway with great force and Creeger brot his machine to a standstill within a few feet. Bollinger was placed in the machine and rushed to the hospital. The four men in the Maryland car were returning from the football game at Hanover, Saturday afternoon.

Bollinger has regained consciousness and appears to be greatly improved.
